McBride And Sen. Blaine Engage In Heated Argument

SENATE BODY ADJOURNS AS COUPLE ROW

Audience During Meet

Never Used Says Superintendent of League

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—The senate lobby committee broke up in a heated row today between F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin.

When Blaine, the only wet member of the committee, was unable to get a quorum of the committee to defend him against what he called "bullragging" by McBride, he adjourned the committee until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

A small dry delegation in the audience led by former Representative Upshaw of Georgia, applauded McBride and when the dry leader insisted on talking, Blaine threatened to call the sergeant-at-arms to have the witness disciplined.

"You may bullrag and browbeat members of congress," shouted Blaine, "but I hope you have found I am not going to stand for such a thing."

"I'll use my own judgment about that," McBride shot back.

Drys Applaud

Upshaw and his group applauded at this point and Blaine compelled Upshaw to identify himself for the record as the leader of the applause.

"I didn't lead it," said Upshaw, "but I was glad to join in. I want to congratulate Mr. McBride for his spunky, brave answer."

This remark was greeted with hisses and laughter from another section of the audience.

Blaine, alone of the five members of the committee, was present, Chairman Caraway having left the room shortly before the row.

McBride was breaking in constantly, challenging Blaine. The argument became heated when Blaine produced a memorandum written by State Superintendent Dawes of the South Dakota Anti-Saloon League.

This list proposed that the league guard all candidates for public office on the following basis:

- Looks, 5 points.
- Intelligence, 10 points.
- Speaking ability, 10 points.
- Prohibition sentiments, 50 points.
- Record, 15 points.
- Church affiliations, 2 points.
- Family relations, 2 points.
- Sabbath observation, 2 points.
- Companions, 2 points.
- Lodges and fraternities, 2 points.

Denies List Used

McBride contended the league had never used the list.

"You certainly are hard put this morning to get something on the Anti-Saloon League when you produce that," said McBride.

252 GOLD STAR MOTHERS VISIT BATTLE FIELDS

One Week Will Be Spent
By Americans in Cemeteries of France

PARIS, May 20.—(UP)—The first pilgrimage of 252 gold star mothers, most of them from Ohio, left Paris today for the six battlefields of France on their missions of remembrance.

For one week beginning Wednesday, the American mothers and widows of soldiers killed in the World war will visit the graves of their dead, and return to Paris three days before sailing for home on the United States liner President Harding.

At Verdun Tonight

The group enroute to the Romagne cemetery, the largest and most distant from Paris, was scheduled to reach Verdun before nightfall. Another group, enroute to the Somme cemetery, planned to see the spot in Compeigne forest where the armistice was signed.

Luxurious automobiles, with two American army officers, an interpreter and a trained nurse on each, were used for the tours of the battlefields.

There are more than 1100 war widows or mothers who will not be able to kneel at the tomb of their husband or son, for even after 10 years of searching, there still are that many bodies missing. Many of them may have been buried in the French or German cemeteries by mistake.

Goes to Hospital

Mrs. Mary Whalen of Cleveland, a member of the group of war mothers visiting Argonne, was the first to require hospital attention. She was ordered to spend a few days resting at the American hospital although the nurses said she probably would be able to rejoin the group at Verdun soon.

LEADING S. F. CLUB WOMEN QUIT D. A. R.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—(UP)—An exodus of California women in a body from the D. A. R. was forecast today by leading San Francisco clubwomen.

Following the secession of many prominent members from Palo Alto, including Mrs. David Starr Jordan, wife of the widely known president-emeritus of Stanford university, Mrs. Parker Maddux and Mrs. Paul Raymond announced their intention of resigning.

"I have decided that I want to withdraw from the society," Mrs. Maddux said. Mrs. Raymond said: "I fear that the patriotic society is no place for me."

TREATY ATTACKED
BY ADMIRAL CHASE

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Another member of the navy general board, Rear Admiral J. V. Chase, added his opposition to the London treaty to that of other naval officers today.

Chase told the foreign relations committee the treaty would create a "misfit" American navy and would not produce parity with Great Britain.

He agreed, he said, with Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol's condemnation of the treaty Bristol and Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, have led the attack before two senate committees.

"I have no knowledge of the political considerations," Chase said.

EXPECT CONGRESS TO PASS TARIFF BILL IN TWO WEEKS

GLASS FIRM TO TURN DIRT BY FIRST OF YEAR

President Jerome Says Assurance Given Work to Start Before Long

"WE HAVE had assurance of officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company that dirt will fly at the Santa Ana site for its Pacific Coast factory before the end of the year," declared W. C. Jerome, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in addressing a meeting of chairmen of standing committees of the chamber, at the Santa Ana cafe, yesterday.

The announcement was made while the president was presenting to the committee chairmen some of the accomplishments of the chamber and in recounting some of the efforts of the booster body to promote industrials in Santa Ana.

Jerome pointed out a number of situations that had forced the glass company to delay its plans for construction of a big plant in this city, among them expansion work under way by the company when the Santa Ana project was decided on and the recent break in general business conditions.

Conditions Not Ripe

"Under conditions that have obtained with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, it would not have been good business policy for it to have attempted its program here as it contemplated at the time it purchased its site in the southwest portion of the city," the president said.

Pointing out that the time for girding for hard work is when things are slow, the president said that the chairman had been called together for the purpose of better activity of the various committees in promotion of Santa Ana and the chamber of commerce. He suggested that the committees meet more often and that if they had any plans which they thought would be beneficial to the city to submit them to the board of directors for consideration and action.

"The chamber of commerce has done more for Santa Ana than it is generally credited with," declared Jerome, and he added that the fact that Santa Ana has virtually doubled in population in each of the past four decades has been due to some influence—and.

Filibuster By Democrats Is Now Possible

Administration Has Enough
Votes to Pass Measure
Vote Indicates

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Unless the Democrats filibuster against the tariff bill, it appeared likely today that measure may be passed by congress within the next two weeks and sent to the White House for signature.

The administration showed late yesterday it had enough senate votes to pass the measure when it defeated a Democratic Independent Republican coalition move to insist upon the debenture plan of farm relief and repeal of the flexible provision.

Four Democrats who suffered a change of heart since the votes were taken on these two propositions last October, together with Vice President Curtis who broke a tie, gave victory to the administration Republicans. The vote against the debenture was 43 to 41, and against the flexible repeal, 43 to 42.

There was no indication today as to whether anything would be done about the demand of Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, in the course of the tariff debate, that President Hoover have Marc Peter, Swiss minister, recalled because of a speech he made about the tariff. In the same senate debate, Republican Floor Leader Watson pointed out that the Spanish ambassador also had made a speech criticizing the tariff bill.

Elated by their unexpected victory, Republican leaders called for another conference with members of the house at 2 p. m. today. Then final work on the bill will be undertaken. It is almost a foregone conclusion that the debenture will be eliminated and the flexible clause compromised. Virtually all other provisions already have been compromised.

NOTED SKI-JUMPER DIES ON GALLOWS

SYDNEY, N. S., May 20.—(UP)—Ingvald ("Bing") Anderson, of Berlin, N. H., former New England champion ski-jumper, went to his death on the gallows early today for the murder of Dubois Rehberg, hotel porter.

A small crowd gathered outside the jail yard and waited in the shivering cold until word came that the trap had been sprung and Anderson was dead.

Anderson struck Rehberg with a crowbar, fatally injuring him. Subsequently he appeared in a daze and appeared to remember nothing of the assault.

Senate Confirms Nomination Of Owen J. Roberts

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—The nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia to be associate justice of the supreme court was confirmed today by the senate without a record vote and without debate.

Roberts' confirmation fills the vacancy on the court created by the death of late Associate Justice Sanford.

BEBE DANIELS AND BEN LYON FILE FOR MARRIAGE LICENSE

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—(UP)—Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, noted motion picture stars, today appeared at the county marriage license bureau and filed notice of intention to wed.

Lyons and Miss Daniels appeared at the county courthouse a few minutes after the bureau opened. They entered hastily, filling out the necessary blanks and departed at once.

Miss Daniels said she was 28 and Lyon said he was 29. They registered respectively as "actress" and "actor." The records showed that neither had married previously.

WHALEN QUILTS POLICE POST IN NEW YORK

Understood Will Return to Wanamaker Store—Successor Is Named

NEW YORK, May 20.—(UP)—Police Commissioner Grover Whalen resigned today.

The resignation of the man who left a $100,000 position to head the city's police at a salary of $10,000 a year had been expected for some time. Whalen handed his resignation to Mayor James J. Walker at city hall.

The resignation, he said, will take effect at noon tomorrow.

Whalen had been in office 17 months, succeeding the late Joseph Warren when the latter resigned because of illness.

He took office with a specific pledge that he would solve the murder of Arnold Rothstein, a notorious gambler, who was fatally wounded during Warren's administration. Rothstein's slayer is still at liberty.

Whalen indicated his intention of returning to the John Wanamaker store.

Whalen took his post, originally for only a year. His time had more than elapsed and there had been hints recently that his retirement was desired at city hall.

Subsequently Mayor Walker denied wanting his removal.

Edward P. Mulrooney, assistant chief inspector of the police department, was named as Whalen's successor.

This move was a surprise as many had believed Mayor Walker would not appoint a member of the force to the place.

PRISON MOTHER AND BABY GAIN RELEASE

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., May 20.—(UP)—San Quentin prison will no longer cast an ominous shadow over Baby Evelyn Victoria Leano.

Her prison mother has been given her freedom. She was on her way home today to join her husband and three daughters, who live in Pasadena. The husband and daughters will see the baby for the first time.

Mrs. Francis Culp Leano was convicted for assisting in an illegal operation and sentenced to San Quentin prison. Her incarceration there caused considerable confusion among prison authorities when it was learned she was about to give birth to a child.

FIVE MAROONED ON TOP PIKE'S PEAK

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 20.—(UP)—Five men were marooned today by heavy snow on the summit of Pike's Peak, more than 14,000 feet above sea level.

The men left Colorado Springs four days ago and were caught on top of the peak by the blizzard that swept the eastern slope of the Rockies during the last week end.

They took refuge in the summit house, where an ample food supply was available, and communication with Colorado Springs by telephone was possible.

Huge snow drifts completely covered the windows of the summit house, making constant night watching. The men have been melting snow for drinking water.

SHULER STARTS FOR DALLAS IN W.A.E. AIRPLANE

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—(UP)—The Rev. R. P. "Bob" Shuler took wing today and flew away from Los Angeles and the county jail where he had spent 16 days of a 20-day sentence for contempt of court in radio speeches he made about judges handling the Julian Petroleum collapse cases.

The broadcasting pastor was aboard a Western Air Express plane and was due to arrive in Dallas, Tex., at 7:30 p. m. tonight to make a belated appearance at the conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

The minister also hopes to make commencement addresses at two southern colleges before he returns to Los Angeles for further court appearance on the contempt matter.

Late yesterday the state supreme court ended Shuler's incarceration—temporarily at least—by granting him a writ of habeas corpus returnable on June 3 at which time he will attempt to escape the rest of his term.

TO DROP CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—(UP)—Charges that Eddie Mack, noted lightweight boxer, assaulted a 17-year-old girl here, may be dismissed, it was said at the district attorney's office today.

Deputy District Attorney Daniel Beecher said dismissal was under consideration because the girl, Marcella Le Fosse, indicated she would not testify against the pugilist.

Flight From Seville to Cadiz Made in Hour and Half—Heard by Steamer

BULLETIN

MADRID, May 20.—(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin flew over Tenerife, Canary islands, off the coast of Africa, at 4:40 p. m., today, the Tenerife radio station wireless.

CADIZ, Spain, May 20.—(UP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin flew over Cadiz at 10 a. m. (5 a. m., E. S. T.) today and started out over the Atlantic ocean on her flight to Brazil and the United States.

A strong east wind appeared to have slowed down the 3:35 of the big ship which was flying through foggy skies when it was lost to sight in the direction of the African coast.

On African Coast

The Graf Zeppelin followed a route which would take it along the coast of Africa, past Rio de Oro and then out over the Atlantic direct to Brazil. The flight from Seville to Cadiz was made in moderate time—about 90 minutes for less than 70 miles.

The dirigible faced an overwater flight of some 3650 miles to Pernambuco, Brazil. It could be seen from Cadiz for only about 10 minutes.

The Spanish steamer Isla Gran Canaria, reported by wireless today that she had communicated with the Graf Zeppelin at 3:30 p. m. but that the dirigible did not indicate its position.

Leaves Seville

The Isla Gran Canaria was due in the Canary Islands tonight. The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin left Seville at 8:22 a. m. today (3:32 a. m., E. S. T.) on its 60 hour flight across the South Atlantic ocean to open a new commercial route to South America.

The Zeppelin's next destination is Pernambuco, Brazil. The second stop on a tour which will carry it to Cuba and the United States. The Zeppelin paused here all night after a 25 hour flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, its home port.

2000 HOMELESS IN FLOODED DISTRICT

KANSAS CITY, May 20.—(UP)—Threats of flood still lingered in the southwest today though clearing skies brought promise of cessation of the downpour of rain which sent rivers and streams over their banks.

Approximately 50 square miles of the south Arkansas oil fields were under water, and nearly 2000 residents were homeless from the flood waters of the Red river and its tributaries which overflowed yesterday and Sunday.

Highways were inundated in several southern and eastern Arkansas sections. Railroad and bus traffic was partially disrupted.

With clearing skies came cessation of the high winds which ripped paths of death and destruction through eastern Arkansas and Texas over the week end.

Voters At Polls In Pennsylvania Senatorial Race

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—(UP)—The state's voters cast their ballots today to decide the bitter disputes which have divided the Republican party in Pennsylvania since the refusal of the United States senate to seat William S. Vare.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, solidly backed by Vare, has gone before the electorate as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in today's primary election, challenging the strength of Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, who was appointed to fill Vare's place and who gained fame first as a tariff lobbyist, then as a high tariff man in the senate.

Census Shows Necessity For Ward Line Revision

POPULATION OF FIVE AREAS IS FOUND UNEQUAL

Necessity for readjustment of ward lines in Santa Ana was brought forcibly to public attention today with release of Stanley Goode, census supervisor for Orange and Riverside counties, of the population in each of the five wards in the city.

The Fourth ward—formerly known as the "bloody fourth"—represented by W. J. Kelly, who received the highest vote of approval of any of the councilmen in the recent recall election, tops all the wards in the point of the number of persons residing within its boundaries. The number credited to it by Goode is 5312.

Ward No. 5, which embraces a large territory in the northwest section of the city, and which is represented on the council by Mayor F. L. Purinton, follows in second position with a nose count of 4261.

The first ward, the smallest in territory but the most densely populated of the five, contains 3543 souls. J. L. McBride is the councilman.

Ward No. 3 trails along in first position with 3173 and is represented by Bert Sutton.

Completing the list, No. 2 is fifth, with a population of 5041. This division of the city is represented on the council by the census supervisor.

The council frequently in the past has discussed informally the situation of present ward lines being out of proportion to the population, and opinion has been expressed that changes should be made.

It was largely for the guidance and information of the council that Goode prepared the statement of population by wards.

The figures for the five wards total three less than the last officially announced population of Santa Ana. The official figures are 20,222 and the total of the wards is 20,223. It was explained that three names had been overlooked while the count was being segregated into wards.

Goode today made his first shipment of completed and checked district reports to the census bureau at Washington, D. C. The reports were for 48 districts.

Goode said that it is yet impossible to present figures for the county, as the count in a number of districts has not been completed.

COSTE TO ATTEMPT PARIS-N. Y. FLIGHT

PARIS, May 20.—(UP)—Dieudonne Coste announced today that he had definitely decided to attempt a flight from Paris to New York next month, the exact day of departure depending on weather conditions.

More than $272,000 in securities, their own home and auto are also in his wife's name, he said.

GLASS FIRM TO TURN DIRT BY FIRST OF YEAR

In his opinion, the chamber has been the dominating influence. Not a Village.

"When a municipality reaches a population of 30,000 it has passed from the status of a village to a real city," commented Jerome. "We now must look for those things essential to keeping the city in a thriving condition, and we must develop here something that will fill in a gap of unemployment occurring in certain periods of each year between the harvesting of crops."

"There is a disposition on the part of industrialists to change locations, and if we can pick up a few worth while factories we will have taken a step that will not only fill the gap but that will add to the number of employed, to the population and to the amount of wages disbursed in the community. We do not want and should not encourage those types of industries that cannot finance themselves and that have not more or less firmly established themselves in the markets. The time has passed when promoters of manufacturing enterprises insist on location of plants in their own home towns—they seek those locations where they have the greatest assurance of success."

"Santa Ana is fortunate in the possession of many advantages that make this city an inviting field for manufacturing, and we are certain to benefit by this situation."

The president emphasized the point that northern and central California are becoming strong competitors with Southern California for industrialists, due to the introduction of cheap fuel in those sections.

The meeting was preliminary to a program of holding similar conferences the second Monday in each month.

No Discussions
There were no general discussions and no suggestions as to any particular activity beyond the recommendation of Ridley Smith, of the clean up and paint up committee, that effort should be devoted to the beautification of Santa Ana streets and highways approaching the city by the planting of trees, and by John Knox, who suggested continued effort in behalf of Newport harbor.

Those present were Jerome and George Raymer, president and secretary of the organization, and committee chairman A. B. Rouselle, annexation; Sam Hurwitz, forum; Charles Rutledge, finance and budget; T. S. Hunter, membership; Ridley Smith, clean up and paint up; J. L. COUNTY TO AID SAN GLEMANTE ROAD PROJECT

Acting upon the request of a committee from San Clemente, headed by Mayor Thomas Murphy, which previously had appeared in behalf of obtaining county aid in the construction of a 56 foot road on the right-of-way of the state highway through the Spanish village, the board of supervisors today went on record as approving the project and willing to aid it at the rate of $10,000 per mile.

The stretch through San Clemente is just a fraction over two miles long, it was reported by Nat Nett, county superintendent of highways. Plans call for construction of a 10 foot strip of the additional width by the state highway commission and the balance by Orange county and the city.

The action taken today is regarded as setting a policy by the board of supervisors in granting aid on widening projects of similar highway routes through cities where the total width reaches 56 feet, as board members indicated that this procedure would be followed in the future where such widening projects are undertaken.

A contract with Riverside and San Bernardino counties relative to the construction of the weir across the Santa Ana river at the mouth of the canyon was discussed by members of the board and by Horace Head, attorney but no decision was reached.

A letter from the state park board was read by J. M. Backs, clerk of the board, in which it was stated that future action on the proposed park here depended on indication from the county that the site proposed at Huntington Beach was acceptable to the people of Orange county. The letter contained reports of appraisals as to the value of the tracts under consideration. The board of supervisors now has an appraisal committee at work setting up values on the land, and a report is expected at the meeting of the board next Tuesday.

Other action taken at the morning session of the board included granting a 10 days leave of absence from the state to County Surveyor W. K. Hillyard, and making an allowance of $30 from the sheriff's convention fund, for use of Herman Zabel in attending the sessions of the finger print experts at Santa Monica on May 22, 23 and 24.

BANKERS ENJOY PICNIC AT PARK

Officers and employees of branches of the Security-First National bank, at Santa Ana, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Whittier today continued to recall many features of a jolly afternoon passed at Irvine park Saturday at a picnic and sports program.

Baseball games, horseshoe pitching and other forms of entertainment were featured in the afternoon. The participants "whetting" an appetite for the dinner served by W. K. Duffy late in the afternoon.

Mrs. "Nick" Nicholas, of Whittier, was proclaimed the best batter among the group playing ball and was rewarded with a joke prize. George Ravenscamp, of the Fullerton branch, was given a prize as the best horseshoe pitcher, and C. E. Clarkson, of Whittier, was dubbed the "rottenest" athlete in the party.

STREET LIGHT BUSINESS WON BY G. E. FIRM

Fireworks anticipated at the meeting of the city council last night in connection with the use of glassware to be used in the ornamental lighting system on East First street failed of development, proponents of General Electric globes winning honors of the battle by presentation of a petition carrying the signatures of owners of 54.85 per cent of the frontage on the street.

The council granted the petition and directed the city engineer to change the specifications for the system to include the use of the glassware manufactured by the General Electric. Neonite glassware had been specified.

There was no "talkfest" and a large crowd of persons present in expectation of hearing a verbal battle on the merits of the two types of globes and the wishes of the property owners, filed out of the council chambers as soon as the council disposed of a matter that had been the cause of several heated arguments before the body, during which charges were made that the General Electric was attempting to secure a monopoly on the business of providing glassware for local systems, and that unfair tactics were being resorted to promote a change from Neonite fixtures.

Recommendation by the planning commission that denial be given the application of W. H. Dixon for permission to construct a duplex at 919 S. Flower brought forth objections by Councilman W. J. Kelly, who pointed out that there are other instances in Santa Ana where three houses on one lot had been permitted. The recommendation of the commission was made largely on the fact that a small house now stands on the rear of the lot and that addition of the duplex would create a situation of three families residing on one city lot. The councilman declared that encouragement should be given building enterprises, particularly now that many workers are out of employment.

Mrs. Clara Cushman, secretary of the commission, said that she appreciated the point made by Kelly, but that it was not good planning to permit three houses on one lot, and that it did not appear good policy to grant this particular application unless the entire block was changed to the court and apartment zone.

The discussion closed with the recommendation being referred back to the commission.

Action of the commission in denying Mrs. Mabel Madden the privilege of conducting at her home, on the southeast corner of Ross and Washington Ave., a light lunch and ice cream stand, was approved by the council. Denial was made, according to the report of the commission, because state and local boards of school trustees were opposed to establishment of places of business opposite school properties. The Madden location is just across the street from the site purchased for the new Frances Willard Junior high school.

The resignation of Mrs. Gertrude Collier as a member of the planning commission was accepted, with regrets, by both commission and council.

No protests were filed against the creation of a water and sewer district at Delhi or against the acquisition of land for the widening of W. Seventeenth street from Main to Flower and resolution were passed ordering work to proceed on the Delhi district improvement program and the institution of condemnation proceedings to acquire the land required for widening West Seventeenth. The engineer's office estimates the cost of the land, including overhead, at $26,111.

With E. E. Frisby, local sanitary inspector, reporting deplorable sanitary conditions at the Delhi dance hall, the council denied the application of C. D. Robinson, of Orange, for permission to operate a dance there for the benefit of the Anaheim ranch baseball team unless recommendations of the inspector are complied with. Robinson had planned a dance for the coming Saturday night.

Fourteen bids were received for supplying the city with an air compressor for use in breaking up pavement and were referred to the city engineer for recommendation at the next meeting.

On authority of cities and sanitary districts in the project, the council directed employment of R. F. Goudy, formerly sanitary engineer with the state board of health, and now with the city water department in Los Angeles, as inspector of chlorination plants in use on the outfall sewer system. His salary is to be $32 a month.

Goudy will make regular inspection to determine whether too much or too little chlorine is being used and whether chlorination of the sewage is effective in elimination of gases that destroy the sewer pipe. Santa Ana's proportion of the inspection cost will be approximately $15 a month, it was said.

A communication from Northcutt Ely, who represented Secretary of the Interior Wilbur in negotiations with Southern California cities for power allotments from Boulder dam, acknowledged receipt of decision by the city to accept its allotment, and advised that a draft of the contract to be signed would be forwarded after completion of senate hearings on contracts for power and water.

Center installation lights were ordered installed at the corner of Minter and Stafford, on South Birch between Chestnut and Camille, and on West Seventh street between Bristol and Pacific.

Declaring in a communication that many tires have been stolen recently from automobiles parked near the high school while owners were attending affairs there, D. K. Hammond, principal, asked for extra police protection when entertainments are being presented. The request was referred to a committee composed of W. J. Kelly and Stanley Goode.

F. E. Schoen appeared before the body to protest what he asserted to be heavy overcharges made on the Southern California Edison company and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company in connection with the moving of two houses from the federal postoffice site on Bush street. Estimates were given by both companies as to the cost and bills were rendered for higher amounts, he said. A representative of the Edison company explained that additional expense resulted from the fact that the building was two feet higher than the elevation given at the time of the estimate, the original height being given as 26 feet. Higher elevation of wires and cutting of clovers to permit passage of the houses down the street caused the higher charges, he explained. Schoen was told that he would have to make his adjustments with the companies, as it was not a matter over which the council had control. Schoen intimated that he would employ a lawyer to help him fight his battle for an adjustment. The bill rendered by the Edison company was for $61.73 against an estimate of $22.96, and the telephone company rendered a statement for $236.45 as compared with an estimate of $150.

Discussions last night indicated that the council would include in its budget next year an appropriation of $1500 for summer playground operations in Santa Ana, the sum being duplicated by the board of education.

A three year summary of Orange county production study will be given by Cory. From this study certain management factors have

PROSPECTS FOR POULTRY TO BE TOLD GROWERS

What about poultry in 1931?

This and many other similar questions will be answered at the first of three evening sessions scheduled for 7:30 p. m., May 21, 22 and 23, at the Garden Grove High school under the auspices of the extension division of the University of California, it was announced today by W. M. Cory, acting farm advisor. Rapid fluctuations occur in production and prices affecting poultry products, which can be predicted to a certain degree by close observers, he said.

F. R. Wilcox, extension specialist in economics from the University of California, will explain what the trends in the industry indicate, which will enable the poultryman to judge better what his plans would be for the coming year. Those who have been in the industry any length of time know that in certain years more money can be made by pursuing a policy that perhaps on other years would be just short of ruinous. What and when to do it materially affects the income for the year, Cory said.

There are 73 mountain peaks in California which have an elevation of over 10,000 feet.

been revealed which increase net income for the year.

New poultrymen, as well as those who have been in the business for some time, will learn of many practices which go to increase the next profit at this series of three evening sessions.

Thursday evening will be devoted largely to marketing, housing and disease control, while on Friday night the discussions will be on feeding and rearing.

WRITES NEW SONG ABOUT SANTA ANA

"Susanna of Santa Ana." How does that sound as the title of a song about Santa Ana?

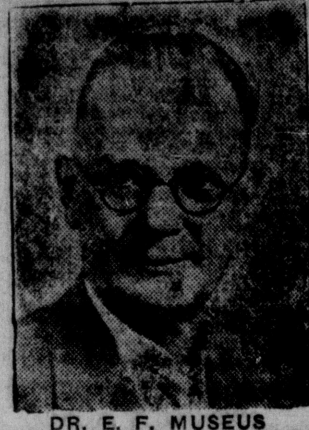

This is the name of a song written at Summit, Calif., by Billy Farmer, according to a letter sent by Farmer to the city council and read at the meeting of that body last night.

"I have driven through Santa Ana many times and have been impressed by the beauty of the city and particularly by the beauty of the women I saw on the streets," the song writer said in his letter.

He advised that he did not know to whom to send a copy of the song. The city clerk was directed to write the composer and suggest that he send a copy to D. C. Cianfoni, musical representative of the city.

A BACKGROUND OF SAFETY...

ATTRACTIVE as it is, 6% interest alone could not satisfy the 65 thousand cautious savers whose funds are now in Pacific States Savings. To them, a still more vital consideration is the background of safety assured by this Institution's flawless 41-year record, and present commanding strength.

These men and women know that we have cash on hand equal to many times their current requirements... that, in addition, we maintain reserves totaling 7 million dollars... and that we are free of bank indebtedness.

Such is the background of safety which gives our 6% interest its compelling appeal. And it is upon this basis of time proved conservatism that we solicit the guardianship of your savings, large or small. Send for our current Statement of Condition.

Beverly Hills Man Seriously Hurt In Crash

W. W. Babcock, 53, of 206 North Oakhurst street, Beverly Hills, was seriously injured at 10 o'clock last night, when the automobile in which he was riding turned over, two miles west of Westminster on West Seventeenth street.

He was taken to the Seaside hospital in Long Beach, where it was reported he suffered a broken shoulder, three broken ribs and serious internal injuries. Little hope was held today for his recovery.

According to two eye witnesses to the accident, Mrs. B. Schuhardt, of 818 South Van Ness street, and "Bomo" Koral, local baseball player, the Babcock machine attempted to go around another machine and was crowded off the road.

Officers today were attempting to locate the driver of the other machine, they reported. Koral reported that the Babcock machine was speeding at from 50 to 55 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

SET TRIAL DATE

The court efforts of more than 100 property owners near Costa Mesa to break leases made to the Interstate Oil company some 12 years ago, has been set for July 21 in department three of the Orange county superior court. It is reported that there has been no work done by the defendant in the action since the first of the year.

The shell of a giant oyster of prehistoric times found in Argentina and now in the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago, is nearly 12 inches in diameter.

YOUNG PEOPLE HEAR ADDRESS BY MISSIONARY

Miss Martha Pohnert, Los Angeles, for many years a missionary in China, spoke of the Korean revival when she talked to 300 members of the Orange county Christian Endeavor union at the Anaheim Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon.

She told how, in one town, 2200 people were saved, after members of 87 churches had spent three months praying for a revival in their own lives.

Miss Dorothy Abbott, Placentia, president, announced that Miss Clara Stanfield, El Modena, had won the Orange county extemporaneous contest and would appear in the elimination between southern county winners at Santa Ana June 1. Clarence and Kenneth Rohrs and Edgar and Paul Elmer, who won the quartet contest yesterday, also will enter the quartet elimination at Santa Ana on June 1.

Before Miss Pohnert arrived, the Rev. Remmy Hunt, pastor of the Brea Christian church, entertained the young people with a talk on experiences in China.

Don Milligan led the song service and Mrs. Hattie Conn Hopkins played.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be on July

ATTORNEY FOR JAPANESE GETS CONTEMPT FINE

After a stormy session at the trial of Hiroshi Nakamura, Los Angeles Japanese druggist, yesterday afternoon before a jury in the court of Judge James L. Allen, which culminated in a $25 fine for contempt of court imposed upon defense attorney Eugene F. Everett, of Los Angeles, the case was proceeding more smoothly today.

The fine was imposed by Judge Allen after Attorney Everett, who had persisted in a line of questioning of Robert Welch, companion of Nakamura, and son of Galen Welch, internal revenue collector of Los Angeles, that several times had drawn statements from the bench that the witness was not being tried, shouted in response to an answer from Welch, "That's a lie. It is a lie and I'm tired of this."

Immediately upon this outburst Judge Allen announced adjournment of the court until 9:30 a. m. today, asked the jury to leave the room at once, refused to listen to Everett, who attempted to approach the bench, then reprimanded the attorney severely for his outburst before the jury and imposed the fine for contempt of court. Judge Allen characterized the action of the attorney as unbecoming to a man and an attorney.

The answer which brought on the outburst by Everett was that Everett had been arrested in Pasadena for being drunk when he had Nakamura's car. Welch previously had testified that Everett was frequently in company with his client and that he had told John Law, a deputy of Los Angeles, that the only person other than himself who might have passed Nakamura's checks was Everett.

During the session yesterday, Welch testified that he and Nakamura came to Santa Ana together in December and that he passed checks Nakamura gave him at several drug stores in Santa Ana. He also testified to getting several pints of liquor on prescriptions from physicians. He stated that he did not use his own name on the prescriptions, as he did not want his father through whose office the prescriptions went, to know that he had been purchasing liquor.

Everett attempted several times yesterday to prove that immunity had been promised Welch for his testimony, which was damaging to the Japanese druggist, and he charged Welch with turning state's witness. The men had been arrested for their operations with checks, which resulted in a number of checks being returned. Everett also tried to show that Welch was in-

The amount is approximately 30 per cent of the total taxes for the year, 60 per cent, or $3,607,233.43, having been apportioned in December, and a balance of 10 per cent being left over for the final check up with County Tax Collector J. Five drainage districts received $21,812.78. Two protection districts received $10,502.08. The sum of $32,436.40 went to 26 road improvement districts. Five acquisition and improvement districts received $17,423.44 and 13 improvement districts were awarded $18,520.44.

Of the Metropolitan Water district taxes, $2424.22 went to Santa Ana and the balance of $923.32 went to Anaheim.

Interest in a stock of illegal alcohol which, it was stated, was in Nakamura's Santa Monica drug store.

During the course of the trial today Everett apologized to the court and the jury for his outburst, which had resulted in the fine. District Attorney Z. B. West was on the stand and testified that he was not familiar with the case. Welch's attorneys, Kenneth Burns and Franklin G. West, also took the stand and testified that no promises of immunity had been made for their client.

J. Clark Sellers, handwriting expert, of Los Angeles, was on the stand today comparing samples of the checks and prescriptions, in an attempt to prove that Nakamura had written the documents.

STINSON GIVEN VOICE TEST AT R. C. O. STUDIO

Officials of the R. C. O. studio of Hollywood, who heard Santa Ana's "singing cop," George Stinson, when he sang recently at the Anaheim amphitheater, arranged a voice and screen test for him at the studios the latter part of last week. While in the city Stinson was the dinner guest of Dr. Otto Peters, director of the Universal studio.

Stinson, who is to give a concert at the Anaheim amphitheater June 7 with Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, inherits his love for music both from his father and his mother, who died when he was a small lad when the family lived in St. Louis. Schumann-Heink has predicted that Stinson will be a second John McCormack and strangely enough it was the voice of this singer who gave the orphan boy his greatest consolation when he was adopted by a German family living near St. Louis, after the death of his parents.

The foster father of the Santa Ana singer believed that singing was an effeminate thing for a husky young lad to do, so Stinson was discouraged from singing about his tasks and his one consolation was the fact that one Sunday afternoon he was allowed to play the phonograph recordings of John McCormack's voice.

The music was a special treat allowed Stinson and his sisters after a seven-mile walk to Sunday school and seven miles back again.

Stinson's foster father was the owner of several machine shops in St. Louis, as well as a number of farms, and he was taught to be a blacksmith, a tanner, how to build roads, a mechanic, a carpenter and several other trades, while his leanings toward art and music were thoroughly discouraged.

It was not until Judge John Landell, of San Juan Capistrano, discovered the wonderful quality of the "Singing cop's" voice, and brought him to the attention of Schumann-Heink, that Stinson began to consider seriously a musical career.

WALKATHON PASSES 300 HOUR HURDLE

The Walkathon in its 305th hour today is furnishing the people of Santa Ana with a new form of fun and amusement. The American Legion is putting forth every effort to bring only the best in entertainment to the Walkathon. There is a daily change in vaudeville and the contestants are always working up new forms of entertainment for the public.

The vim and snap which marked the start of the contest is very much lacking in the contestants now. They are all so sleepy and tired that one may expect almost any one of them to turn up among those missing at the end of the rest periods, or if their partners' vigilant eye should wander for even a moment, to see them fall over the rail and thereby become disqualified.

There are times when they are seen to sleep on the floor in the arms of their partners. That is a very telling thing on the partners. It has caused the failure of the partner to return to the floor on time, and be ruled out of the contest for being behind the gong. There are but 10 couples of the original 20 who started over 300 hours ago in the canvas stadium on Third street.

Packey McMullen, a local boy who formerly was a member of the Olympic boxing team in 1920 at Antwerp, Belgium, and who held the Pacific coast featherweight championship in 1924 and 1925, has been in a pretty bad way. Santa Anans have turned out to cheer him on in the hope that a local couple may win.

BREAKFAST CLUB PLANS REVEALED

One of the best meetings in the history of the Santa Ana Breakfast club will be held at the St. Ann's Inn Thursday morning, according to Fred Schweitzer, program chairman.

The entire group of entertainers will be new to members of the club. The first number on the program will be an accordion solo by Theodore J. Wickersheim, manager of the Dixland orchestra of Anaheim.

Arthur Wormington will give a number on the slide trombone, accompanied by Norman Harvey. Harvey was pianist for the Los Angeles Breakfast club before moving to Santa Ana.

George Evans, who is in charge of the violin department in Orange county for the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, will play a number on the violin, accompanied by Miss Adelaide Proctor, who has charge of the piano department of the same conservatory.

The last number will be presented by one of Orange county's outstanding football players during the 1929 college season.

B. & P. W. CLUB HEARS TALK BY DORIS ROBBINS

Dividing their interest between the program of the day and plans for the immediate future, Business and Professional Women yesterday shared an interesting hour over the luncheon tables at St. Ann's Inn. The day's meeting offered an unusual phase when Miss Doris Robbins, first president of the organization, read a paper on the old clipper ships and sailing vessels that once raced through Pacific waters and around the Horn, with their "cargoes of ivory, elephants and peacocks," and the part they played in the development of California.

At the conclusion, Miss Robbins told a tale once told her by her grandmother, of that grandmother's sister and her sea captain sweetheart, to whom he brought such rare gifts as an ivory fan and a Chinese shawl. The fan, exquisitely carved, was shown by the speaker, together with another very lovely one given her by a member of the Santa Marino D. A. R., following her presentation of the same paper before that organization. The donor of the gift had carried the fan on her wedding day over 30 years ago.

Miss Robbins asked the entire club to her home for the next book review section meeting, when she will read the play, "Other People's Husbands," written by Miss Margaret Penney, of the Pasadena Players, who was her guest at yesterday's luncheon.

Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, president, called for election of delegates to the southern district convention to be held in Long Beach June 13, 14 and 15. She herself will be an official delegate, while others named were Mrs. Loyal K. King, Miss Lula Ott, Miss Doris Robbins, Mrs. Charles Blackburn and Miss Nancy Elder, with their alternates as Mrs. John A. Tessmann, Miss Lorna Thompson, Mrs. Hazel Northcross, Mrs. Golden Norwood Weston and Miss Mabel McFadden.

Convention headquarters will be at the Virginia hotel, where the various club exhibits will be featured. Mrs. Merle Morris was appointed to plan the industrial exhibit for the Saturday luncheon.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Sentimental ties of traditional rivalry are not readily smashed. It is not an easy matter to turn out in the cold friends of 20 years standing. So I am glad the doctors of the C. I. F. failed to perform their contemplated surgical operation on the Coast Preparatory league, and with one snap of their saws amputate athletic relations between Santa Ana and Long Beach, and Santa Ana and San Diego.

Instead of pruning limbs from the old family tree, the schoolmen graft additional branches to it.

Instead of a curtailed athletic program, as many feared when plans for the proposed high school-junior college schedule merger were first announced, we shall have "bigger and better" football.

Where there were six members of the Coast Preparatory league now there are nine.

Of primary importance here is the return to the fold of Fullerton's "Big Red Teams." Long a stormy petrel in the Orange league where it obviously did not belong, Fullerton graduated into the Foothill league last fall.

The Reds found the going no tougher in the Foothill than in the Orange circuit. Monrovia, Herbert Hoover high, South Pasadena and Whittier were no higher hurdles than Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Tustin and Orange. Football and basketball championships, and now the baseball title, fall into Fullerton baskets.

So the C. I. F. moves the upcountry school back into the Coast Preparatory league from which it abdicated years ago. I do not know whether this is contrary to Fullerton desires, but probably not so long as the C. I. F. permits the Reds to shun competition with San Diego. There is ill feeling between these two and time, greatest healer of all, has failed to mend the wound.

The situation will make possible another series of games between the greatest prep rivals in Southern California—Santa Ana and Fullerton. Played on

SAINTS TO PLAY FOOTBALL GAME

Santa Ana, Fullerton Play Tonight

STARS LOOKING AHEAD FOR BIG ANAHEIM TILT

Already virtually eliminated from the race for the first half championship of the split schedule, Santa Ana's Stars take up a hopeless pursuit of the National league leaders at Fullerton tonight.

The game will be a forerunner, a "conditioner" for the much more important struggle between the Stars and Anaheim at Anaheim Friday. Neither Santa Ana nor Fullerton is going anywhere this half but Anaheim is still in there trying and just a step back of the flying Whittier Quakers. The season will be a success from a Santa Ana standpoint if the Stars lower Anaheim's colors at this critical part of the campaign.

Dissension split Fullerton's ranks wide open recently although the upcountry clan will put a pretty good club on the field. None of them are soft touches these days for the Stars who are "battering" 500 in the standing column, having won and lost five stars.

Sign New Moundsman

Larry Cannon, a chunky right hander who wanted to pitch for Santa Ana and actually did work a game or two for "Sturzy" Sturzeneger's Dees, is doing the slinging for Fullerton. He carries his own catcher with him, a hard working fellow named Wild.

Wally Ruckert, Fullerton manager, signed Cannon and Wild when his two young pitchers, "Bud" Whitte and Verne Thomas, asked for their release last week. They said Ruckert was too harsh and severe with them.

Two or three other athletes were similarly accommodated. Ruckert, one of the old school, told his boys he was going to be boss while he was the manager. Strong-armed methods may or may not pay dividends. Fullerton is going to find out.

Price Is S. A. Pitcher

Ray Price will be the Santa Ana pitcher. Captain Bill Cole announced definitely. Joe Cornelius will be saved from Anaheim so Price will have to hang in there and "take it" if he is off form. The long, lanky Price hasn't really had a chance this season. He started the first game of the season, was knocked out of the box and never has had an opportunity to see what he could do since.

Most of the second guessers believe Price has the stuff to be a winning pitcher in night baseball, but think he throws his slow one too often.

The Stars have been hitting well this year and good pitching will make them dangerous through the second half. Orv Schuchardt, brilliant midfielder, is enjoying his most successful season both afield and at bat. Wayne Nelson, a driving hitter, is punishing all kinds of pitching, and Leavitt Daley, fleet second baseman, has added a lot of punch to the club's offense. Little "Memph" Hill is playing his usual steady defensive game and beating out his share of the bunts. The mile shortstop is always fighting to win and that helps.

Scott In Bat Slump

Darwin Scott, third baseman, is not hitting the ball as robustly as in other years but he is too good a natural batsman to remain in a slump long. He will be ready to worry the pitchers again when the second half gets under way.

The feature game of the night will be played at Long Beach between the inconsistent Acorns and the league-leading Whittier club. Lloyd Lichtenwalter has been allowed a week's rest for this particular joust and it would not be much of a surprise if he stops "Rube" Ellis' aggregation.

Anaheim invades Olive and will be none too sure of victory although the Packers probably got their game out of their systems last week when they tamed Santa Ana.

George Lackaye takes his Orange team of Santa Anas to Garden Grove. Lackaye has three pitchers ready to go—Gene Hitt, Kenny Walker and Walt Jordan—but probably will decide to give Walker, an Anaheim boy, his first tryout with the Orangemen.

Huntington Beach goes to La Habra.

Begin Work On New Nine At Willowick

Work was under way today on the first three of the new nine holes to be laid out for the Willowick Golf club. Officials intend to rush these to completion and in the meantime begin work on the other six that will compose the "second nine."

Meeting last night, the Santa Ana Willowick Golf club, an organization of players that intends to promote interest in golfing activities at the West Fifth street course, made plans for a ball sweepstakes tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The club plans other tournaments and affairs later.

Van Pomeroy and Arnold Lund will meet in the final round of the Glass A spring handicap tournament. Don McDonald won the second flight from Don Jerome, one up.

SCHMELING TO OUST RETINUE OF MANAGERS

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 20.—An innuendo is being bandied about today to the effect that the Herr Schmeling, co-principal of the world's heavy-weight championship fight June 12, is soon to sign up with a new manager of whom he expects the most satisfactory of results, the latter being himself.

He has four or five managers now, not including the managers of the managers, but they say he will have a grand total of none by October 15. It seems that the Bulow contract and the managers and their managers are to run out, meaning to expire, in unison, meaning together and in heavy marching order.

Jacobs To Get Air

In other words, the Herr Jacobs, who learned his German while buying gefutefische down at the corner delicatessen, may or may not get a lot of prairie in the none too intermediate future. I am not altogether clear on this point but my information about another phase of the situation is almost specific. I know perfectly well what he will not get. He will not get a license to manage Schmeling on the night of the title fight with Sharkey.

He will go into the German's corner on the bounty of a special permit, good for one evening only, after which he will be permitted to go out into the night and get sunstroke or something.

Thus, between what he may get from Schmeling and what he will not get from the boxing commission, he Herr Jacobs and his ensemble would seem due to sustain more or a pushing around than the average wheel chair.

No Hint of Dissonance

So far as I know, there is no hint of dissonance in the happy management of the Herr Schmeling at Endicott, N. Y. The Herr Jacobs may suspect that all is not well but he can't exorcise the Herr Schmeling for what he is thinking, which is supposed to be something in this vein: That a fighter's best friend is himself and, as such, ought to be rewarded very handsomely. He is said to regard 90 per cent of the purses as a reasonable arrangement, which is neither handsome nor good looking. Its downright beautiful.

The Senior Firpo made some arrangement of this kind seven years ago and seemed to find it satisfactory, although the managers always maintained that he needed a manager in a very critical way.

Anyhow, if the Herr Jacobs is willing, he probably will be retained in some capacity. Somebody, for instance, has to answer the telephone. Besides, the Herr Jacobs is the Herr Schmeling's good friend and he wouldn't think of parting with him—unless the Herr Jacobs gets so headstrong and unreasonable as to expect the manager's legal rate of $3 1/3 per cent.

WHY 'RED' QUIT THE ARMY

Now you see why Cadet Christian (Red) Keener, Cagle, All-American football star, had to quit West Point. He is pictured here with the wife whom he secretly married two years ago in defiance of the military academy's regulations. She is the former Miss Marion Haile of New Orleans, a boyhood sweetheart. Cagle resigned, a month before he was to have been graduated, following disclosure of the marriage.

COACH OLIVER IS OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK

Optimism that is thoroughly justified by practice exhibitions as well as by past records is being exhibited over Santa Ana high school's spring football season which reached its climax Thursday afternoon when the Saints play Anaheim a regulation game at Anaheim.

The same teams will clash here next week after which the Saint interclass games will be scheduled to top off the training grind.

Between 30 and 40 candidates, many of them boys whose names are not familiar to the public now but who will be learned before Thanksgiving day, have been reporting to Coach "Tex" Oliver for the last six weeks.

It is a far cry from May to November but with fair breaks from the hospital department and the scholarship committees, Coach Oliver believes the Saints will put on the turf next fall a "representative Santa Ana eleven."

For Oliver who, like most coaches, is prone to pessimism, that may be considered an optimistic statement. Usually coaches confine their advance prophecies to "we hope this" and "we hope that."

Red-headed Max Wilson is one of the chief reasons for Oliver's unwrinkled brow.

Wilson came out for spring practice entirely unscathed but his hard running and tackling has made a most favorable impression on the Saint counselor-of-war. Already Wilson has been tentatively linked as a backfield running mate to Captain Al Reboin and Harold Pangle, two-year veterans who have their positions virtually clinched.

Wilson will play the back position against Anaheim as it is doubtful whether Captain Reboin will be used. Reboin has been mixed up with track and baseball all spring.

Vincent Cox, Kent Martin and Edwin Gluck have three other halfbacks who should help the team. They are all small, fast fellows.

There are three outstanding candidates for the wing back job. Chief among these is Don Crumley, a two-year veteran, who may be shifted to the inside backfield post filled by Jack Fredericks last fall. Ralph Gordon and "Red" Kidder are the other two standouts.

"Hoy" Blower and Hideo Higashi, experienced ends, also have known some work in the Saint backfield this spring but when fall comes Oliver is expected to chase them back to their old positions. Gilbert Meisinger, another veteran wingman, has not reported regularly for practice but a number of other end candidates, chiefly Paul Jacques, Tom Carlyle, Ed Miller, Jimmy Lash and Jimmy Danerl, have all done well in workouts.

Bill Donahue, Joe Preininger and Lee Hoffmaster, all substitutes last season, rate in the front row of the tackles who will replace "Bid" Hartman and Harry Clayton. Lawrence Lutz, Quimby Miller and Glenn Miller are other good possibilities.

Dallas Reichstein, returning to school after a year's absence, looks like the premier guard. Iard Runyon is another good prospect. Oliver thinks some of the others—Marvin Johnston and Al Jasper will be available for flychasing service.

HOST OF HIGH SCHOOL STARS DEFEND GRID CHAMPIONSHIP TO HELP SANTA ANA COLLEGE

By "SKY" DUNLAP

Prospects for the best football team in the history of the Santa Ana junior college are exceedingly bright and Coach Bill Cook will have an excellent chance to repeat the feat of winning the Southern California conference championship if half of the boys already lined up for Santa Ana actually matriculate here next fall.

Heading the list of players are 134 lettermen who helped the Dons get their title last fall. Virtually every one of these men is out now for spring practice. Captain Al Kuhnle, all-conference center, will be a tower of strength in the line while other veteran linemen to help him will be Ed Adams and Hal Dunham, ends; Tim Wallace, tackle, and Philip Martin, guard.

In the backfield, Coach Cook will have back Orville Schuchardt, quarter; Wayne Garlock, quarter; Melvin Beatty, halfback; Leonard Natland, quarter; Gene Olsen, half; Charles Andres, halfback; Sieman Toelle, half, and Franklin Van Meter, halfback.

Former captains are listed among the prep stars, including Bruce Tarver, center and guard from Santa Ana; Captain Mike Santa Cruz, tackle from Orange, and Bill Darnley, end from Anaheim.

Coach "Tex" Oliver will send along a goodly number of griders, including Captain Tarver; Harry Clayton, all-coast league tackle; Warren DuBois and Stanny Harden, tackles in 1928; Glenn Hartman, tackle; Jim Hall, halfback; Doyle Gilbert, quarterback; Lloyd Nuzum, end; Winfield Martin, guard; Frank Wurster, guard in 1928, and possibly George Berry, end in 1928.

Anaheim will send another large delegation. Included among those intending to enroll are Captain Danley; Don Baum, guard; Gilbert Klueh; Kiyoshi Shibahawa, half; Bert Wilkins, half; Clyde Taylor, guard, and Vernon Schnapper, tackle. Dick Lusk and Pete Lehr, Anaheim boys who played one season for the Dons several years ago,

BAPTISTS WIN FIRST HALF OF CHURCH LEAGUE

The Baptists, last year's champions, won the first half of the Santa Ana Church league's split night baseball season by trimming their closest competitors, the First Christians, 17 to 7, at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Ernie Peters' home run with the bases full in the second inning put the Baptists out in front and they were never headed thereafter, scoring in every succeeding frame. They made full use of their 17 hits while the Christians, bagging just as many, were unable to do much with Pitcher Peters with men on bases.

Peters was rapped for three runs in the first chapter but soon got his bearings, striking out 11 and blanking his opposition in six of the last eight innings.

Church teams now will begin the second half of their league with the Baptists favored to repeat. The winner of the second half, if it isn't the defending champion, will meet the Baptists in a post-season series for the league title.

EMANUEL WILL BE INTRODUCED AT RING SHOW

Frankie Campbell will not be the only nationally famous fighter at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night.

Armand Emanuel, San Francisco Jewish heavyweight who decisively defeated Jimmy Maloney in the main event of Jack Doyle's big outdoor show at Wrigley field last week, will be one of the attractions, it was learned here today.

Dave Shade, long-jawed veteran middleweight who meets Ace Hudkins at the Olympic auditorium May 27, also will be introduced from the ring, according to Tom Maloney, manager of Campbell and Roy Moore, the Long Beach light heavyweight who faces Joe Goeders in the main event.

Shade is training with Moore up at Soper's ranch near Ojai. They are both at the crossroads in their careers. Shade hopes to get past Hudkins and qualify for a match in Los Angeles with Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion, while Moore is determined to regain the old form that won for him the middleweight and light heavyweight championships.

Australia during a tour of the Antipodes in 1926. Moore has been assured of a bout at Hollywood with Joe Bitto or Homer Sheridan if he wins Goeders.

Campbell, "big shot" of Promoter Henry T. Foust's show Thursday, will box a three-round exhibition as a special attraction to the Moore-Goeders eight-round windup. Frankie will step with one of his sparring partners, Frank Muskie, and neither fighter will wear headgear, it was stated. Campbell has won his last 12 starts by knockouts. His last and best achievement was the knockout of Les Kennedy at Wrigley field.

In addition to the appearance of the stars, the Campbell exhibition and the Moore-Goeders scrap, Promoter Foust will present a regular card which includes a six-round semi between Joe Reese and Casey Risko, and a six-round special event between Paul Gomez and Mickey Thomas.

PACIFIC AND BANTA TO HURL EXCELSIORS IN GAME TONIGHT CITY VICTORIES FOR S. A. BEES

Inter-mural night baseball fans were convinced today that competition is going to be closer than ever in the Santa Ana City league this summer. The tipoff came in the Bowl last night when both ends of a double-header were contested vigorously.

The Excelsior creamery nosed out the Richfield Oil company by a whisker, 7 to 6, while the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company got up in the last two jumps to beat the Courthouse, 5 to 3.

"Tex" Bergman, veteran Excelsior submariner, was hit freely in the early part of the first game but pitched well in the late stages of the thing while his teammates touched "Slim" Miller for three runs that won the quarrel in the fifth.

The nightcap was strictly a pitcher's duel between Stump and Spicer, with the former winning the verdict when Spicer weakened in the sixth and seventh and let in three of the Pole-Climbers' five tallies. Stump stopped the Courthouse with two hits.

City league ball will be resumed Wednesday night, the American Legion facing the Dennis Printers at 6:45, and Peek's market lining up against the Auto Club of Orange County at 8:15.

KREG SECURES WHISTLER FOR RADIO PROGRAM

A whistler whose ability has been recognized by KFI and KFVD, and who has done bird calls for talking picture studios in Hollywood, will entertain over KREG, official broadcasting station of the Santa Ana Register, from 6:30 to 7 p. m. today. Ruby Ray O'Hara, who has imitated the English nightingale, meadow lark, quail calls and other bird notes, and has whistled in "The Last of Mrs. Chaney," "The Virginian," "Love Parade," "Vagabond King" and "Hollywood Revue," will be at the microphone.

Another outstanding feature of tonight's program will be the City of Santa Ana hour, sponsored by the junior college. The girls' quartet of the college, including Katharine Kirven, soprano; Frances Harper, second soprano; Mary Nalle, alto, and Nada Hill, second alto, directed by Miss Myrtle Martin, will sing four numbers. Everett Idor, manager and leader of the Varistoniens, will play piano selections. June Arnold, who played the part of Sadie in the "Show Shop," annual junior college play, will give "Romeo and Juliet" in the manner of Booth Tarkington. The program will be heard from 9 to 10 p. m.

The children's hour, directed by Inez Moore, will introduce Dorothy McGuigan, reader, a pupil of Miss Etta Hale. The program will be on the air from 4 to 5 p. m. The Shoppers' Guide, with music, will be heard from 5 to 5:45 p. m., followed by the news of the day, from 5:45 to 6 p. m.

INSPECTION OF MILK OUTLINED IN RADIO TALK

Editor's Note: The full text of the talk by J. B. Bichan, of which an extract is published below, will be printed on the farm page of the Register next Saturday.

A brief history of the dairy industry and of milk inspection in general, followed by a detailed account of the development and methods of milk inspection in Orange county were given to KREG listeners last night by J. B. Bichan, county milk and dairy inspector.

"The way the carbon came out of my engine this morning sure made me a believer."

"In all my experience in race driving I never dreamed that the solution to carbon removal would ever be so simple and yet so thorough and easy."

Pete DePaolo
Holder of World's Record for Indianapolis 500-mile Race Classic at average speed of 101.12 miles per hour

YOU may be skeptical about Carbo-Solve until you try it out. But you and DePaolo and every other driver are willing to be shown that carbon removal is possible by a simple chemical process, aren't you?

Under the Money-back Guarantee issued with every tin of Carbo-Solve, give it a whirl at your engine. Stand well to windward so the exhaust blows away from you, and watch the carbon billow out like midnight!

Drive your car and notice how she begins to take on power and flexibility as the carbon keeps blowing out the exhaust. Within 20 to 30 miles you're back to the energy and drive of a carbon-clean engine again!

Many different oils
—all different in quality
are called "EASTERN"

Asking for just "eastern" motor oils is often a grab-bag proposition. Oils commonly called "eastern" may be of many different types and qualities—selected by widely varying processes.

But, asking for Pennzoil by name assures you of the best—for Pennzoil stands for oil of supreme and unvarying quality—always.

Pennzoil quality is always the same because it is refined by the famous Pennzoil process—from choicest Pennsylvania crude and nothing else.

You can't go wrong when you buy where you see the Pennzoil sign.

How Many English Words Can You Form With the Letters in This Star?

Keep Posted About This Contest by Reading The Times Every Day — Use the Coupon Below!

Form as many words as possible from the letters in the star. Start with any letter and take any number of adjacent or contiguous letters in ANY DIRECTION: forward, backward, upward, downward, diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other on the sides or at the corners. M-18 is next to or adjacent to N-8, G-9, E-17, S-24, L-22, I-15 and A-7. S-6 is adjacent or contiguous to G-5 and T-14 but is not adjacent or contiguous to A-7 and U-20 because separated from these letters by blank spaces.) Do not jump or skip any letters or spaces.

Example: T-1, H-2, A-7, N-1 spells THAN;
S-6, T-14, U-20, B-21 spells STUB;
L-22, I-15, M-16, I-23, T-31 spells LIMIT.

The same space may be used more than once in a word (as I-15 in MILLITIA—M-16, I-15, L-22, I-15, T-14, I-15, A-7), but do not double any letter. For example: L-48 cannot be doubled to form the word ROLL with R-47 and O-49, but L-23 and L-30, two adjacent and contiguous letters, can be used with B-21 and A-28 to form BALL.

RULES

No word may be used more than once. Do not use obsolete, archaic, dialect, Scottish or un-Anglicized foreign words, proper names of persons, places or places, or parts of words such as prefixes, suffixes, contractions or abbreviations. Either the singular or plural form may be used, but do not use both forms of the same word. In any question, Webster's International Dictionary will be authority.

For convenience in checking, lists of words must be submitted in alphabetical order. Each word should be numbered consecutively, starting with 1. It will not be necessary to give the index numbers of the spaces in which the letters are found.

Contestant's name, address and telephone number should be written at the beginning of the list.

The list, together with the total number of words submitted. Use only one side of the paper. This contest is open to every person in California and Arizona except members of the families of employees of THE TIMES. Only one prize will be awarded to a household. As explained in the LIST OF PRIZES, there are two classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to THE TIMES to compete for one of the Class B prizes. The Class A prizes are open to those who send in a 6 months' paid-in-advance subscription to the DAILY and SUNDAY TIMES. This may be either a renewal or a new subscription. There are 56 prizes in each class. The contestant in each class submitting the largest number of words properly formed from the letters in the Star according to these instructions will receive the first prize in that class; the one submitting the next largest number, the second prize, and so on. The right is reserved to increase the number and the value of the prizes at any time during the progress of this contest. In the event of ties, contestants trying will be required to form words in a similar manner from letters in a smaller diagram. Should any ties result from the second contest a prize identical with that tied will be awarded to each tied contestant.

This contest will close at 8 p.m., on Saturday, May 31, 1930. All lists of words must be delivered at the Contest Depository on the main floor of The Times Building before that time, or, if mailed, must bear postmark showing that they were mailed before that hour.

BROADWAY AT SECOND

SANTA ANA, CALIF.

Past Year Most Successful In Y. M. C. A. History

SMEDLEY GIVES ANNUAL REPORT TO DIRECTORS

Ralph Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., gave his annual report yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors in the Y. M. C. A. building. Smedley stated that it was his opinion that the 12th months ending April 30 were the most useful and busiest in the history of the organization. The report follows:

"The statistical year of the national council of the Y. M. C. A. closes on April 30. In making out our reports for the past 12 months for this purpose, I have selected items that will be of interest to the directors.

"In financial matters, thanks to the efficient functioning of the Community Chest during the past year, and to the generous support of contributors to our debt raising fund, we have been able to bring our current accounts to a 30-day basis, instead of the 60-day basis on which we were struggling a year ago, and we have reduced our building debt by more than $6000.

"Dormitory occupancy has been the best we have ever had, with an average of more than 50 residents for the past seven months, and with total receipts for the 12 months, ending with April, of $3,228.66. On the basis of this record, together with our present occupancy, we have reason to anticipate that the present calendar year will bring our total near to the $10,000 point.

"Against this we have the less satisfactory situation in membership receipts, which, for the 12 months, made a total of only $3,202.50, which is considerably less than should be received from this source. If we can bring up the membership dues to a figure commensurate with the dormitory business, it will be a great aid in our finances.

"During the year, the records show a total use of our physical department of more than 50,000, counting all the uses made of it. We had 825 men and boys enrolled in gymnasium classes, and 250 more who engaged in other physical activities. We conducted 44 social and entertainment events for men and boys, gave a great number of personal interviews on various character building subjects, helped a considerable number of men into employment, either temporary or permanent, and had many applications for employment which we were not able to place.

"The total attendance at the building for all purposes during the year amounted to more than 115,000, on the basis of the best estimates we were able to make. Free memberships for boys have enabled us to serve the boys of the entire community on a far-reaching program. More than 300 boys were taught to swim. More than 1000 different boys were counted among our members for a period during the year. Eighty-one boys were at summer camp, accompanied by 12 leaders. Baseball and basketball teams have enlisted the active interest of nearly 300 men and boys, many of whom were not actually members of the association, but who were admitted to use the privileges in connection with church leagues and other organizations.

"In our service to the community, aside from the specific uses of our equipment, we have acted as a clearing house and central meeting place for many activities in the city and county. More than 50 different groups and organizations not a part of our association have used our building for meetings, holding something over 400 meetings of various sorts in our rooms.

"The use of our lobbies as a social center and a place for play has been the greatest we have had since the opening of the building.

"Regular meetings of our organizations have included the Toastmasters club, the Choristers, the Dormitory club, the Hi-Y, the Junior college 'Y,' Friendly Indians, Pioneers, and other similar groups.

"Our relations with schools, Boy Scouts and other welfare organizations have been most friendly and

CONVENTION OF CHURCH CLOSING IN FULLERTON

With approximately 500 delegates and members in attendance, the Santa Ana district convention of the Christian churches was held in Fullerton Monday. W. J. Morrison, of Fullerton, president, presided at the sessions. The theme of the convention was "Pentecost and the Church."

Sessions opened at 10 a. m., and included addresses by leaders in the church on subjects emphasizing the observance of the 1900th Pentecost, which will be celebrated June 8. Speakers included pastors of various churches throughout the district as well as the Rev. F. T. Porter, state superintendent of churches.

A pot-luck lunch was served in the Recreational hall of the church at noon.

Conferences and committee meetings were held at 1 p. m., with Mrs. J. C. Ogden, of Tibet, speaking at the missionary conference, telling of experiences on the mission field and of work that is being done by the churches in the foreign lands.

L. Levite, of Whittier, was in charge of the devotions at 2 p. m., followed by an address on "Pentecost and Instruction" by Max Wilson, of La Habra. Other subjects on the afternoon program included "Pentecost and Fellowship," by Howard Stansbury, of Montebello; "Pentecost and the Lord's Supper," by C. F. Martin, of Santa Ana; "Nineteen Hundredth Anniversary of the Church," N. E. McGowan, Hollywood. Committee reports covering activities of the church during the past year were heard at the afternoon session.

The evening session was for the young people of the district, with a large attendance present. The session opened with a banquet at 6:30 p. m., following which Wayne A. Neal, of Los Angeles, told of work being done by the young people of the districts, urging a greater effort by the young people's organizations in the work of the church and in missionary activities.

Following the banquet session, Dr. C. F. Cheverton, acting president of the California Christian college, spoke on the subject of "Pentecost and Consecrated Life." Co-operative Scouts take their special tests for swimming and life-saving under Mr. Russell. School, church and Scout groups have used our building privileges freely as needed. A large group of boys from the Julia Lathrop Junior high school have had a regular period under the direction of Mr. Tibbals each week during the school year.

"Some 15 or 16 boys and young men have been led into the Christian life through our efforts, most of whom have announced their intention of joining the church of their choice. Scores of others have registered forward step decisions of various kinds, all in the direction of developing Christian character.

"In my opinion, the 12 months closing with April, which also marked the close of our first six years of use of our building, marked the busiest and most useful year that we have had in this work. From present indications, I see no reason why the coming 12 months may not be made even more useful by the continued insistence on the development of our program, the development of new activities as needed, and the enlistment of an increasing number of men and boys in our membership."

WHISKER PRIZE WINNERS HUNT BARBER SHOPS

Barber shops of Santa Ana were back on a paying basis today when 15 men at the Santa Ana junior college went back into the market for shaves after completing the six weeks whisker contest held for the Spanish Fiesta day last Friday. After the judging was held at the dance Friday night, the alfalfa growers hurried for their razors and whacked off the hirsute growth on their faces. Out of 53 who signed up, only 15 had the courage to last until the finish and try for the eight prizes offered by Santa Ana merchants.

The contest, and annual affair held by the O. K. club at the college, caused much merriment, especially when the judges tried to pick the winners at the dance. Several of the beards attained great length, while Don Young, winner of the prize for the scrappiest beard, needed strong glasses to distinguish the hair.

The prize winners and their rewards were as follows: Five dollar airplane ride at Eddie Martin's airport for most hair per square inch, won by Willard Miner; one pair of varsity cords from Hill and Carden's for best full beard, trimmed Spanish style, won by Herman Goodwin; a six dollar pair of shoes from Schilling's for best Spanish sideburns and mustache, won by Abbott Mason; a narrow-brimmed collegiate hat from Hugh J. Lowe's for the most unique combination, won by Ray Glesener; a bathing suit from Swanberger's for the longest untrimmed beard, won by Julian Lecrivane; three passes to the Broadway and three to the West Coast theaters for the best beard, won by Cardwell Oglesby, and a kodak album from Stein's

VARIED TRAVEL FACILITIES ENJOYED BY A. H. LYON ON JOURNEY AROUND THE WORLD

Returning from a four months' cruise on the Cunard liner, Franconia, Arthur H. Lyon, 2025 North Broadway, reported the unique experience of riding on an amazing variety of conveyances while ashore at the various ports of call of the Franconia.

For disembarking at the different countries, the voyagers accepted the conveyance offered by each individual land, until Lyon had the experience of riding, not only on motor cars of every possible make, but also experienced bullock carts, donkeys, sedan chairs, rickshaws, camels, elephants, tram cars and sleds.

The journey upon which the Santa Ana embarked on January 11, was similar to that taken a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau and by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stevens, and is arranged annually by Thomas Cook and Sons. The cruise is to end in New York on May 29, but Lyon left the vessel at Los Angeles harbor, to pursue its way without him, through the canal to Panama city, Balboa and Havana, Cuba.

Going by way of the Mediterranean, the party enjoyed the Madeira Islands, with Funchal as the first port of call. Gibraltar and its massive fortifications, was succeeded by Algiers, then a return to the French Riviera, trips along the Grand Corniche road, and a whirl at Monte Carlo, with southern Italy—Nice, Naples and Pompeii, followed by a tour of the Holy Land.

Egypt's lure was recognized, and after visiting the pyramids and the Sphinx, Lyon left his party to enjoy a side trip to the Valley of the Kings, seeing Luxor and Karnak, later viewing the treasures of Tutankhamen's tomb in the museum at Cairo. He was especially interested in watching further excavations in the Valley of the Kings, now being made by the Rockefeller foundation, and in noting the difference between the American steam shovels, and the Egyptian idea of laboriously filling small baskets with the sand and earth, and having them carried out on the shoulders of the native workmen. "It resembled nothing so much as an endless file of ants," he declared.

Bombay, Benares, Delhi, Agra and its marvelous Taj Mahal, were

MANY SEEKING PARK BUILDING DISPLAY SPACE

V. D. Johnson, director of publicity for Orange county is now placing industrial exhibits in the Orange county exhibit building at Irvine park, he announced today.

Exhibit space already has been spoken for by the Anaconda Wire and Cable company, of Orange; the Brown Overhead Irrigation company, of Yorba Linda; the Utt Fruit Juice company, of Tustin; the Wilson company, perfumers, of Santa Ana; the B. and C. Glass company, of Santa Ana; the Great Western Cordage company, Inc., of Orange; the California Cordage company, of Orange; the Newport Fish cannery, of Newport Beach; the Thistle

Towel company, of Orange; the Santa Ana Art Glass company; the Towner Manufacturing company, of Santa Ana, and the United States Industrial Alcohol company, of Anaheim.

These displays will be placed in show cases along the walls together with other exhibits as they come in. Johnson is endeavoring to contact the various industrialists of the county as rapidly as possible, as the building will be opened the latter part of this month. Only 40 spaces are available, and manufacturers who wish to take advantage of this opportunity, offered without cost by the county, were requested to get in touch with the publicity director without delay.

A display of wax fruits and vegetables, in exact duplication of real articles, is being prepared, and will be placed in floor show cases. It will be impossible to make a complete showing, by the time the building is opened, for the reason that sample fruit from which these models will be made are available only at the time of their ripening, Johnson said.

ANTI-CIGARET LEADER TELLS OF CONFERENCE

Indicating the rapidly increasing interest in the cigarette question, the attendance of the semi-annual conference of the California Anti-Cigarette League held last Friday, in Los Angeles, proved most encouraging to the officers and workers of that organization, according to Clarence Gustlin, of Santa Ana, president of the organization.

"Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, a state and national officer of the W. C. T. U., who resides in Orange county, opened the meeting with an address, touching upon both the liquor and tobacco problems of the day.

Santa Ana Women Attend Meeting at Riverside

A very enjoyable two days were spent recently at the W. H. M. S. district convention held in the First Methodist church, Riverside, by the following women of Santa Ana: Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. Sarah Hutchins, Mrs. E. R. Arnold, Mrs. R. L. Rines and Mrs. E. S. Williamson, of Anaheim, vice president, presided in the absence of the president. The first morning was given over to business and reports with luncheon served the delegates in the church dining room.

A fine address was given in the afternoon by Dr. A. C. Stevens, president of the Spanish American Institute at Gardena. A visit was then made by the delegates to the man institute at Arlington where the Methodist pastor gave a very instructive talk on the work of the institute, stating that something over 1000 young people were in attendance at the school and 750 of them were Protestants. Madame Ellen Beach Yaw was present and sang a number of songs in her very pleasing manner. Included in them was "The Skylark." Then followed a reception at the chapel and serving of light refreshments, after which a trip was made through the Mission Inn at Riverside, accompanied by a guide. One of the finest features of this trip was the pipe organ recital heard in the chapel.

Friday morning Mrs. Hutchins led the devotion. The chief addresses of the morning were by Mrs. George A. Skewis, conference corresponding secretary, and W. D. Michener, superintendent of the David and Margaret home, who had with him one of the children, a charming little lad of three years, who lives at the home.

Friday afternoon was given over to election of officers, an address by Mrs. Margaret Locke Cox, and the consecration of the officers. Special music was furnished by women from both the First M. E. and Grace churches.

Orange County Pioneer Days Described

At a recent meeting of the Third Household Economics section of Ebbeh society gratifying reports were heard of the apron sale which was held in connection with the flower show when $70 was realized from the sale of aprons for every occasion.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bowers, 1401 North Main street, and the interesting feature of the afternoon was a talk given by T. E. Stephenson, who told of the boom days in Orange county in connection with a talk on Pioneer times. Two of the members present, Mrs. C. C. Bennett and Mrs. W. L. Lelby, both of Tustin, had lived in the county during the period described by the speaker.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Bowers were Mrs. A. N. Cox and Mrs. W. E. Williams. A delectable refreshment was served.

Pleasant Event Given For Class Teacher At Ranch Home

One of the pleasant social events of the Reformed Presbyterian church occurred recently when the Bible class, led by the Rev. G. N. Greer, gave a banquet to the mothers of the congregation, with the spacious country home of the Rev. Mr. Greer on La Palma avenue, Anaheim, as the setting for the event. Masses of carnations and gypsophylla were used as a pretty background. Mrs. Greer and the young women of the class were hostesses and prepared the dinner. Among the forty guests were the Rev. and Mrs. S. Edgar and Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Walker, of Anaheim. The husbands of the group were special guests.

Following the dinner an interesting entertainment was presented. Mrs. Sterling Tipton was in charge of the program, which included songs by a women's quartet, accompanied by Mrs. Greer; a tribute to "Our Mothers," by Mrs. Tipton, a response by Mrs. Mary Stetter, of Fullerton; two violin solos by the son of the home, Ralph Greer, and an address by Dr. F. H. Walker, who is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Anaheim. Dr. Walker stressed the influence of a good mother. "The Songs My Mother Used to Sing" was then rendered by Miss Viola McClurkin. The Rev. Mr. Greer's class, composed of the younger married people of the congregation, meets each Sunday evening for an hour preceding the service, and he has been the leader for seven years past.

Church Groups Plan Japanese Pageant

Japan's famous cherry blossom festivals have furnished two of the First M. E. church organizations, the Dorcas society and the Standard Bearers, with the theme for a program which they will present next Thursday night in the church auditorium. This will be a Japanese pageant, "At the Feast of the Cherry Blossom," to be given at 8 o'clock, with the public cordially invited. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken during the evening.

In preparation for the event, the two societies have been fashioning cherry blossoms until over 8000 of the little flowers have been completed. The effect of the blossoming trees as a background for the dainty story, will be enhanced by Japanese parasols and swaying lanterns until those who have watched the plans develop, declare that the effect will be strikingly beautiful.

Everyone taking part will wear the quaint Japanese dress. Principal roles will be taken by Miss Hazel Stuekey, Holland Whittington, Edward Budd and Miss Betty Walker, while Miss Helen Sibaugh will sing two Japanese songs. Miss Hazel Vogt will be at the piano for the event, while other musicians assisting will include Edward Burns, cellist.

Everyone in the cast is expected to be at the church tonight at 7 o'clock, for a complete rehearsal of the pageant.

Hear Talk on Towels At Section Meeting

The Second Household Economics section of Ebbeh society was told of towel making by D. O. Robinson, of the Thistle Towel company of Orange. The meeting was held in the Peacock room of the clubhouse and hostesses were Mesdames J. S. Warner, W. L. Deimling, W. H. DeWolf and C. D. Brown. Plans were discussed for the exhibit to be placed by Ebbeh club members in the California Valencia Orange show.

The musicale teas which were held both last year and this year following Mother's day, proved such enjoyable events that it is quite probable that the tea will become an annual event to be held this week of each year. Sunday afternoon mothers of "Y" members and the board of directors were special guests when a program was presented in the lounge of the Y. W. C. A. and tea was served in the dining room. The program included a reading by Miss Charlotte Quigley; musical reading by Miss Lela Peal, who was accompanied by her sister, Miss Mildred Peal. Both girls are pupils of Gladys Simpson Shaffer.

The Misses Henrietta and Gertrude Scheffer sang a duet and were accompanied by Miss Helen Glancy. A violin solo was played by Miss Emaline Richards, and a vocal solo by Miss Nellie Mae Chapman, accompanied by Betty Burnham. Miss Burnham also accompanied Miss Ruth Campbell when she sang several selections. Decorations for the lounge were carried out in May flowers and the tea tables were in pink and white with a lovely silver service and pink candles in silver candelabra adding to its beauty. Each guest was presented with a small brown rose.

Dinner Party Precedes Evening of Dancing For College Set

Preliminary to the dance given Saturday night at Santa Ana Country club by the Associated Women Students of the junior college, were several dinner parties, one of the pleasantest having been that at which Miss Eleanor Metzgar entertained in her home, 518 Bush street.

Miss Metzgar was assisted in greeting her guests, by her mother, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, and by the Misses Evelyn Metzgar and Melbie Fisher. The dinner table, where the fourteen young people found their places by means of artistic name cards, was lighted by pastel tapers arranged in silver candelsticks and candelabrum. Delicate hued flowers conformed to the chosen decorative scheme, and the scene in the soft radiance of the candles, was an animated and lovely one, enhanced by the graceful chiffon dance frocks worn by the bevy of girls.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Miss Metzgar, Miss Mary Ford, Miss Katherine Spicer, Miss Corinne Nelson, Miss Mary Louise Wallace, Miss Katherine Harmon and Miss Katherine Walbridge, and for Messrs. Justin McGill, William Reinhardt, Baxter Geising, Abner Mason, Kirby Todd, Virgil Purvis and George Warner. After their leisurely enjoyment of the dinner menu, the young people motored to the Country club to enjoy a dance program in company with their college friends.

When Arch Trouble Starts

There is a lot of truth in the old saying that, "where there is a lot of smoke, there must be a little fire." This adage is peculiarly adaptable to FOOT trouble. Painful arches, cramps in toes, ingrowing nails, and toes slowly growing crooked, are not just a visitation of the Almighty! They are the result of arch trouble and must be attended to immediately, otherwise late life will find such people with ugly-looking, half-deformed feet.

The commonest indication of such trouble is the ingrowing nail on the big toe. This results from a breaking down of the arch which is formed by that part found through and under the ball of the foot. Delicate tissues, tendons and bones slip out of position, the toes crowd together and the edge of the nail begins to dig its way into the flesh at the inner side of the toe. Another sign of such trouble is the little toe crowding out the place and growing over the fourth toe.

Common sense treatment is this: go to a competent chiropodist and have the ingrowing nail removed, then have a pair of arch supports fitted which will raise the arch and spread the toes. Between the big toe and its neighbor the chiropodist will tape a small section of rubber sponge to keep toes apart, and over that, up and over little toe he will tape a tiny section of heavy felt to depress the toe.

Shoes sufficiently wide and long enough to accommodate the arches and sponges will be necessary and at least six months of constant wearing if you wish to correct the trouble before it becomes permanent. Have a look at your children's feet and if anything seems out of place attend to it before it causes trouble and greater expense.

Birthday Is the Occasion For Bridge Party

A recent pleasant event was the party given in the home of Mrs. Belle Lawrence, 712 Bush street, in honor of the birthday of Jac de Groot, when Mrs. De Groot and her mother, Mrs. Lawrence, were co-hostesses. The event was a surprise to the honor guest and the evening was spent in playing bridge. High score was made by Mr. De Groot, Ernest Davies second high, and William Lindsey received consolation for men.

Prizes for women went to Mrs. Charles Harp, first; Mrs. Clarence J. Smith, second high, and Mrs. Ernest Davies consolation. Decorations for the home and for the refreshment course were carried out in pink and white and the big birthday cake was an angel's food elaborately decorated with pink icing. Favors were in the chosen colors.

Clever verses written by Clarence J. Smith, told of the early life of Mr. De Groot. The verses were read by the author. Mr. De Groot was presented with many lovely gifts among them a wrist watch.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jac N. De Groot, Mrs. Belle Lawrence, Mr. George Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schmidt and Mrs. S. W. Sutton.

PLEA FOR IRISH VETERANS

That there are 160,000 ex-service men in the Irish Free State and the government was doing little for them, was stated by Lord Glenavoy at a recent reunion of veterans in Dublin. He declared that the Free State executive had more or less turned the cold shoulder on them, and if government officials only realized what a valuable asset this body of 160,000 law-abiding, experienced men would be to them they would take a different attitude. His remarks were roundly applauded.

Ebell Women Discuss Patchwork Quilts On Program

Sixth Household Economics section members of Ebell society held one of their enjoyable luncheons in the clubhouse last week, followed by an afternoon of unique interest with quilts as the general theme. Mrs. E. E. Keech as chairman of the luncheon committee, had the aid of several section members in planning and preparing the appetizing menu served at 1 o'clock. For this, the tables were arranged attractively with many flowers in gay springtime colors.

For the afternoon program, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman gave a short explanatory talk on "Quilts," illustrated with some very attractive samples of the art of watchwork and quilting. Mrs. Harry Spencer, a guest of the section, had been asked to display some which she had made, some of them of the quaint old-time patterns in patchwork, others examples of the applique mode.

Different members of the section had brought other examples of the art, one of the most interesting being that shown by Mrs. W. D. Baker, pieced by her grandmother after having achieved her eightieth year.

In keeping with program theme was Mrs. Jerry Collins' solo, "Seeing Nellie Home," with its refrain, "Twins From Aunt Dinah's Quilting party I Was Seeing Nellie Home." Mrs. W. B. Snow played the accompaniment for the solo which was very much enjoyed, as was the encore number sung by Mrs. Collins.

Election of officers resulted in the return of Mrs. Helen B. Hell to the leadership, with Mrs. Fred Zaiser as assistant leader; Mrs. E. E. Keech as secretary, and Mrs. Harvey T. Trueblood as treasurer. During this interval, plans were made for the section to take part in the orange by-products exhibit of Orange county clubwomen at the Valencia Orange show, opening in Anaheim soon.

As the final interesting feature of the afternoon, Mrs. J. S. Smart related details of her recent interesting trip to Honolulu in which she and Mr. Smart were accompanied by Michigan friends.

"Ladies of Leisure," the Columbia all-talking drama of New York night life, closing at Walker's State theater tonight, with Barbara Stanwyck, Lowell Sherman and Ralph Graves in the leading roles, is the liveliest, snappiest, peppiest motion picture of the year. It is scintillating with the spirit of youth and gaiety.

It is a simple story but in its simplicity lies its charm. An idealist—an artist—becomes interested in a girl of the street and asks her to pose for him. Without being aware of it, she becomes identical with his ideal of womanhood. He falls in love with his creation. Interference on the part of the artist's aristocratic parents, who do not accept the girl for what she has become but rather for what she has been, eventually separates the young people.

This story is unfolded against the diverting backgrounds of cabarets, artists' studios, elaborate penthouses and the boarding houses of the so-called "ladies of leisure." Admirable performances are given by the entire cast. Ralph Graves interprets the role of the artist with a sympathy and humaneness that is most appealing. Barbara Stanwyck, that attractive young actress who created such a sensational success in "Burlesque," plays the leading feminine role with unusual charm and capability. Lowell Sherman renders an excellent bit of acting in the part of a worldly gentleman. Others in the cast are Marie Prevost, Nance O'Neil, George Fawcett and Johnnie Walker.

NORMA SHEARER IS 'DIVORCEE' STAR

Although "The Divorcee" is not meant just for persons who have been divorced, there are few in Santa Ana who will not appreciate the position of Jerry, the divorced bride of a year, when she tells her husband that she can be just as untrue to him as he was to her.

This, by the way, is part of what is to be seen in Norma Shearer's latest all-talking picture, "The Divorcee," which started a four day engagement at the Fox Broadway theater yesterday.

A girl, who suddenly finds that her husband is not true to her, tells him that she too, can play that game, and after informing him that in the future her door will not be closed to any man but him, divorces him. She then starts to live up to her threat and does it in the night clubs in a big city.

'HAPPY DAYS' IS SPARKLING DRAMA

"Happy Days" came to Santa Ana yesterday. The Fox Movietone all-singing and dancing show, which has been a sensation in Los Angeles, prior to coming here, is said to be one of the most brilliant spectacles that has been made since the advent of talking picture.

With no less than 100 stars and entertainers, known both on the screen and stage, "Happy Days" is not a review like other pictures which have boasted large numbers of stars recently.

The story concerns an old minstrel, whose show goes broke in Memphis and who finds out that his friends have not deserted him. They arrive in bands to stage a benefit show for him, and in the show are seen the stars, who formerly were with the old minstrel on the road.

Some of the favorites who are seen in the production are Will Rogers, Walter Catlett, El Brendel and William Collier, a quartet of funsters who keep the picture rolling at a fast clip throughout; Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, who do a specialty; Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, Warner Barker, James J. Corbett, Dixie Lee, Marjorie White, William Keane, Tom Patricola, and a score of others. There are also 125 singers and dancers, seen in a series of minstrel numbers, the color in which never has been surpassed, while songs and music by George Olsen and his orchestra feature the show throughout.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Tinies watched the horses go upon parade. 'Twas quite a show. They saw both black and white ones in the long and prancing line. Some acted frisky as could be and Carpy shortly said, "Oh, gee! That one that has a ribbon is a winner. My, he's fine."

A man then came up to the bunch and calmly said, "I have a hunch that maybe you'd like to ride a horse. Well, that's all right. I'll bring a horse for every one. You'll have no trouble, boys, at all. If you'll just hang on tight."

The Tinymites were tickled pink. And Scouty said, "Gee! Just to think that we're to ride prize horses. Say! This is a treat that's rare. We'll go out on that big round track and circle it till we come back. Let's ride real slow so we won't give a single horse a scare."

The horses then came to their side and they were off upon a ride. Around the track they gaily went. Oh, what a lot of sport! 'Course Clowny had to coax his steed to pick up quite a bit of speed. And then he suddenly got scared. His horse began to snort. In not more than half an hour, all the horses were back in a stall and every single Tinymite was satisfied. Said one, "Well, just where are we bound for now? We ought to find more fun, somehow." The Travel Man then said, "We will—before the day is done." They all got in a cab again and rode for miles and miles and then they came upon a little stream. A boat house stood nearby. The Travel Man cried, "We'll go and shortly have a dandy row. There's nothing that we'll come upon that we're not game to try."

all visited in India, but the most interesting city to him, was Tatchepur-Sikri, where a magnificent palace had once been completed by a rajah, then deserted for another more to his fancy. Ceylon, Burmah with its temples and mosques, Prince of Wales island, with Penang as the port of call, the Malay states of the Straits settlement, tropical Malacca, were visited on the way to India, where the party left the ship for an eight-days journey inland by rail.

Siam proved interesting with its mysterious temples, and when reaching Java, Lyon had another side trip in addition to the voyage, when he drove by automobile, the full length of the island, seeing it in its varying phases, and at Surabaya, taking a Dutch vessel to Bali, recently made available to travelers. To the Celebes, with their thousands of small islands, Sulu archipelago, where Zamboanga was the principal port; Manila and thence to South China, visiting Hongkong, Canton and Amoy, the journey proceeded, leading in turn to North China, Shanghai and Peking. Lyon was carried by four coolies in a sedan chair, to the great stone wall, one of the outstanding sights and experiences of his trip. Seoul was visited in Korea, then came Japan, where a remarkable view of Zamboanga was granted the passengers by the Gods of the Mountain.

In Kobe, Lyon met Mr. and Mrs. Jack Porter, of Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. Casper, of Washington, who are Santa Ana property owners. In Peking he chanced to encounter Mrs. Helen B. Hill, who is now in the South Seas. Nine days away from the boat in Japan gave him ample opportunity to see the famous cities, Kyoto, Nara, Yokohama, Tokyo, Nikko, etc. Hawaii followed in due course, with its volcanoes, luxurious hotels and beaches, and then came the coast of California, San Pedro and home.

Lyon brought home many souvenirs of his voyage, including some especially beautiful fabrics and richly embroidered mandarin coats.

An additional prize was offered by Cochems, the photographer, consisting of six distinctive portraits, the prize to be awarded at the discretion of the judges after the other prizes had been awarded. This honor went to Jack Frost, who had a full black beard with bare spots in several places.

The judges were I. N. Day, I. J. Lee and Al Martin, barbers from Martin's barber shop of Santa Ana. Other Dons who competed in the contest were Frank Miles, Virgil Brown, Pete Wood, John "Skyl" Dunlap, Bill Crawford, Carol Bertollet and Leonard McIntosh.

handle like that out of the arena. Everybody was a "Kid," a "Young" or a "Battling" somebody. Faulkner was from New Mexico so he styled himself Kid Mexico.

He fought his way through almost every class—bantam, lightweight, welter and middleweight—achieving most of his fame in the 168-pound division.

When in his prime he and Jack Iman went to the mat half a dozen times. Their fights were real classics.

Later Mexico tried everything—promoting, managing boxers, matchmaking. He was instrumental in starting the Orange County Athletic club and was the reason for Boyd Ellis' historic inquiry: "Why didn't they build the arena in my back yard?"

Mexico was Henry T. Foust's matchmaker for six months.

After his break with the cigar-smoking promoter, the Kid went into seclusion. He stopped stampeding the newspaper plants. Even his old cronies lost track of him. Then he turned up in Long Beach—still a fighter.

I am bracing myself for the real shock.

Will it be Mexico vs. Iman again?

CHAVEZ TO BOX FRIDAY

Kid Mexico isn't the only one essaying a comeback this week. Little Zenaydo Chavez will try a "Dempsey" Friday night at Compton. The Santa Ana kid has been away from the firing line since Benny Miller cut his eye open three months ago.

Chavez meets Joe Bell in the Compton windup. They will do eight beats or less. This should tell whether Chavez is really ready. Bell beat Chavez at Wilmington several months ago but the decision was questioned.

Chavez has been training seriously for three months at Long Beach. I understand that Earl Grigsby's contract on Chavez has expired and that it will not be renewed.

SERVICES HELD ON SUNDAY FOR J. B. COVINGTON

Funeral services were held at Glendale yesterday afternoon for Judge E. B. Covington, former resident of this city, who passed away at his home there on Saturday, at the age of 66.

Judge Covington is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella Covington, and nine children, J. H. Santa Ana; D. L. Santa Francisco; Edward B. Jr., former coach at the Santa Ana high school and now athletic coach at Calexico; Samuel T. Briggs, Engr.; Mrs. Sallie Warren, San Francisco; Mrs. Mary Head, Brawley; Miss Leta, Miss Ella Jo and Woodrow Covington, of Glendale.

Judge Covington was born in Calhoun county, Miss., and with his parents came to San Bernardino when he was a child. Reaching his majority he went to Emma, Tex., where he was married to Miss Ella Bird. He was successful in the practice of law, and when elected district judge, he and his family moved to Lubbock, the county seat. He served on the bench for 12 years.

Judge Covington came to Santa Ana with his family in 1910 and resided here for 14 years. He was an active member here of Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, and was a director of the Orange County Savings and Trust company, now a branch of the bank of Italy. Private interests here and in Texas required most of his time. Moving to Glendale in 1924, Judge Covington became actively identified with the Methodist church, South, there. He was a Mason, having membership in the lodge at Lubbock.

Quiet and unassuming, Judge Covington was possessed of those qualities which make and hold friends. His integrity was unimpeachable and his sincerity in the welfare of humanity was expressed in many ways.

Up to a few days prior to his death at a Glendale sanitarium, Judge Covington had been in his usual good health. He was seized with a heart attack from which he failed to rally.

She referred at length to the reform movements under way in Mexico, which she said promise amazing progressive changes in that country," said Gustlin.

"Dr. George Thomson, Los Angeles, brought a vitally important message to the conference in his portrayal of the actual menace of the cigarette habit to human health and efficiency. He emphasized the fact that the enormous increase in mortality from organic diseases, particularly of the heart, had kept pace of the increase in the use of tobacco. His indictment of nicotine and its prevalent use was uncompromising in its severity.

"The Rev. Dr. Kenyon, of the Ninth and Figueroa streets Baptist church, gave an impassioned address, relating his many years' experience with students and others addicted to tobacco. He declared its use to be the greatest curse of the age, a subtle and insidious menace even greater than that of liquor, though not so spectacular in its effects.

"The principal speaker was the famous world's champion athlete, Prof. Harrison Thompson, of the California School of Technology. He pronounced as utterly false the hired testimonials of famous athletes and coaches endorsing various brands of cigarettes. His address was both entertaining and instructive."

An oratorical contest marked the evening session, Miss Ferne Eberhard, of Anaheim union high school, winning first prize, the second going to Lowell Jones, of Monrovia.

The program of each session was interspersed by musical numbers presented by Mrs. Katherine Johnson and Clarence Gustlin, pianists, and Miss Gladys Rudisill and Miles Walton, vocalists.

The league's superintendent, James A. Walton, addressed both afternoon and evening sessions, as did also the president, Clarence Gustlin. The latter is at work on plans for a subsidiary unit of the league in Orange county and is receiving the co-operation of many local persons interested in its aims.

CHAPTER VI

"Did I frighten you?" Gigi laughed joyously when Dundee opened his door, showing tousled hair and startled blue eyes.

"You look exactly as if you were expecting to hear that the millionaire master of Hillcrest had been discovered foully murdered in his library, with the doors and windows securely locked on the inside. Sorry to disappoint you, but Dad is in his room and has just sworn roundly at his favorite daughter for waking him up so early—in the middle of the night, as he called it, though it's nearly seven o'clock."

"I feel like swearing roundly myself," Dundee growled at her, as he wrapped his dressing gown more decently over his mused pajamas. "What's the big idea, young woman?"

"Woke up early with a headache—that terrible perfume, I suppose," Gigi elucidated. "Thrust my aching brow out the window, discovered it's a heavenly morn, dew-purled, God-in-His-heaven, etc., and that it has turned divinely warm. So—" and she flung open her Happi coat to display a brief bathing suit.

Wake Dick up, lamb darling, grab a bathing suit off him, make him come along, and meet me at the lake in not more than 10 minutes. I've got to hang up Clorinda and Mr. Crosby now. Do you suppose I'll ever get around to calling Clo's lordly fiancé by his first name? By the way, didn't you hear me pounding on Dick's door? He wouldn't answer, but you can roust him out. Tell him a sunrise swim will be good for that hang-over of his."

And, after reaching up to tug his tousled black hair impudently, she was off down the great marble staircase, her golden-brown curls bobbing merrily as she bounced lightly on rubber-soled sneakers. "Ugh!" Dundee shivered, as he thought of how cold the lake must be, in spite of the unseasonal warmth of the new morning. But he had no intention of disobeying. Grinning a little at the realization that Gigi was rapidly reducing him to the wax-like state in which she kept her adoring father, the detective padded into the bathroom and knocked at the door leading into Dick Berkeley's bedroom. There was no answer, and he turned the knob, calling:

"Wake up, Dick! Gigi has decreed a sunrise swim!"

But he was talking to an untenanted room. The bed had not been slept in, and the light in the floor lamp beside the armchair glowed yellow in the morning brightness.

"A fine host you are!" Dundee apostrophized the missing young man. "Invite a guest for the weekend, then spend the night out on a bender."

Underneath his surface disgust, however, there was a growing uneasiness. Doris Matthews most decidedly had not looked like "that kind of girl," and yet what over explanation of Dick's all-night absence could there be? The girl had certainly agreed, however unwillingly her consent had appeared to be, to meet Dick after the household was a-bed.

"Well, what shall I do?" Dundee asked himself gloomily, as he returned to the bathroom and prepared to take a cold shower.

"Alarm the family? It's early yet. The young rake may come sneaking back in time for breakfast, and be properly indignant at my interference. Yes, I guess I'd better give him a large piece of my mind when he does turn up!"

After the biting cold of the shower, followed by a vigorous towel, he felt fit to cope with any lake. And by the time he had pulled on his dark-blue swimming suit, Garden Grove and other cities also will contribute their share to the Santa Ana crew.

Coach Cook also received word that Bob McLean, who played tackle for the Dons in 1928 and later moved to Coronado, is coming back with several crack griders from the Southern section. The best prospects are the Wright Brothers and Green, husky linemen who made reputations around San Diego. Wayne Bartholomew, now attending jaycee here and a three-year letterman from Compton high school, is a fine center and will be good for relief work for Kluthe.

A six-game schedule with Long Beach, Pasadena, Compton, Glendale, Los Angeles and Fullerton junior colleges has been up for next fall. The first game of the season is with the U. S. C. freshmen on September 28 at Santa Ana. The Dons will travel to Phoenix for an intercollegiate game and may get contests with San Mateo and Menlo Park junior colleges.

which Mrs. Rhodes had insisted upon his bringing, he was even whistling in a sudden surge of animal spirits. His scalp-prickling premonitions of the night before were temporarily forgotten. In the front hall he found Wickett awaiting him, a tray laden with four tall glasses of orange juice in his hands.

"Miss Gigi has just gone to the lake, sir. It lies to the east of the house. Is Mr. Dick not swimming, sir?"

"I rather think not, Wickett," Dundee answered evasively, as he took the orange juice the butler offered.

Wickett, whose middle-aged face seemed old and tired this morning, was about to ask another question, but the faint sound of a door opening on the second floor deterred him. He set the tray upon a little table in the hall, and gravely opened the front door for Dundee.

It was a glorious September morning—"dew-purled," as Gigi had said; a young, fragrant, joyous morning.

"Isn't it gorgeous? Aren't you glad you came?" Gigi cried, running to meet her new friend, her arms spread like wings.

For a long minute they stood swinging their clasped hands joyously, while Gigi's topaz eyes shone at him. "You look about 15 yourself this morning, my Bonnie Dundee!" she decided, an oddly deep note under her strident young soprano. "Bonnie, Bonnie!—With your hair all wet-curly, and your eyes as blue as a baby's...I wonder," she added frankly, "if I'm falling in love with you. Just this minute I had the funniest, roller-coaster feeling in my tummy when I looked at you—Oh, darn! Here come the grown-up lovers, and you'll have to pretend to be grown-up, too....Where's Dick's? Couldn't you get him up?"

But she did not wait for a reply, for which Dundee was grateful. She went skipping across the close-cut grass to greet and badger her sister and Seymour Crosby.

"Slow-pokes!" she gibed shrilly. "Or did you two pause on the grand marble staircase for a pash embrace? Race you to the lake, Mr. Crosby!"

And Dundee had not realized how much he could like Seymour Crosby until that slim aristocrat ran flung off his dressing-gown and dashed wholeheartedly after the flying child, catching her, for his long legs were swift, two yards short of the spring board.

Clorinda followed slowly, her beautiful face dark with sulky resentment.

"Mad at me?" Gigi challenged her sister impishly. "Did wicked little sister cheat booful big sister out of her beauty sleep?...Says! she discovered suddenly, 'you look as if you hadn't slept at all, Clo! You've got awful circles under your eyes. Why didn't you tell me to go to the devil, then turn over and go to sleep again? Gigi's sorry—honest!'"

"Oh, leave me alone!" Clorinda commanded sharply. "I'm all right, but I don't think I shall swim, after all. That water must be icy," and she shivered and turned her back upon the lake.

she shivered and turned her back upon the lake.

"Don't be a spoilsport, Clo!" Gigi begged, hopping upon the spring-board. "You'd only be cold a teeny minute, and then—Goodness!" she broke off suddenly, and raised her short little nose to sniff, as a sudden breeze from the south rippled the rose-and-silver surface of the lake. "Fleur d'Amour! Can't you smell it, everybody? It must have soaked clear through to our bones, to keep on smelling like this!"

"Don't be an idiot, Gigi!" Clorinda commanded angrily, as the little orange-and-brown figure darted from one to another, sniffing like an eager puppy. "It's just your imagination—"

"I do smell Fleur d'Amour!" Gigi insisted. "But come on! Let's swim! Bet I can dive farther than you can in a racing dive, Bonnie Dundee! One for the money, two for the show—come on, Bonnie! Let's show 'em some real diving!—three makes ready, and four we go!" And on the last word she released her new playmate's hand and ran, executing as prettily a racing dive from the edge of the lake as the athletic young detective had ever seen.

How little and brown and adorable she was, with her fire-tipped brown curls, which scorned a bathing cap, glinting in the sun!

Her dive took her far into the lake, or rather far to the west side of the lake, alarmingly near the little circular summerhouse upon the very edge of the water.

"Swell dive!" he sang out, as the wet curls emerged. Then because there was a queer expression on her dripping face, he shouted anxiously: "What's the matter, Gigi? Did you hurt yourself?"

"Hurt myself?" she echoed, her voice queerly muffled and trembly. "Of course not! But"—and she began to swim rapidly toward the springboard on which he stood—"I think—I think I saw a—mermaid down there!"

"A mermaid?" Dundee stooped to give her a hand and she clambered upon the board, shivering violently.

"Don't pay any attention to the little idiot!" Clorinda commanded with contemptuous anger. "I told you it was too cold for swimming. Gigi. Come back to the house."

But Gigi had drawn up her goose-fleshed knees and had dropped her head upon them. She was trembling more violently than ever, and suddenly Dundee knew it was not from cold. She had gone to camp in New Hampshire, as she had told him the night before, had swum every sunrise in an icy lake—

The hair stirred on his scalp, with that horrible prickling he had experienced twice the night before. Without another moment of hesitation his long legs climbed over the huddled, shivering little figure, stepped to the edge of the springboard.

"No, don't!" Gigi cried, when she realized his purpose, but only a mighty splash answered her.

His dive took him many feet short of the spot where Gigi had gone under, but when he had risen and got his bearings he plunged again....

When the detective rose the second time, after a long minute under water his face was a chastely gray-white. But he did not speak until powerful, overhand strokes had brought him swiftly to the springboard.

Gigi stared up at him, dumpy with horror, and he comforted her with a hard grip of her shaking shoulder before he addressed Clorinda Berkeley:

"Take your sister to the house immediately, Miss Berkeley!.... Crosby, I'll need your help." (To Be Continued)

Fun

The Best Yet In Gliders

The PLAYBOY FOLDING GLIDER is shot straight up 100 or 150 feet by a special rubber. This is possible because in the folded position it goes up like an arrow. The air holds the wings folded until the glider reaches the pinnacle, when they open. It will then make one loop and gradually circle and glide to the ground.

Provides Hours of Fun

As the PLAYBOY GLIDER does not depend upon a small propeller and lightness to lift it into the air, it is made very sturdy. The wooden nose protects it if shot head on into a wall. If a wing hits any obstruction, it simply folds back and after freeing itself the wing opens and continues its flight.

EVENING SALUTATION

We mistake the gratuitous blessings of heaven for the fruits of our own industry.
—L'Estrange.

BEHOLD PUBLIC TASTE

The report has come to us that between one to three o'clock on Sunday morning the attendance at the Walkathon in our city was so great that people were turned away. It is a big financial success, even for those engaged in it as they shuffle their sleepy and dreary way around the floor, for money is thrown to them and there is a wild scramble for it. This is in addition to money given them by patrons for specialty numbers.

We want to congratulate the promoter of this enterprise on knowing infinitely more of human nature than most people know. We would never have dreamed that what appears to us as silly and stupid, if not a health-breaking exhibition, would attract the multitude in an alleged intelligent community, such as we live in. But we were simply wrong—there they are, and the ones who go are probably, in the majority of the cases, those who can afford any form of amusement which they desire. They belong to the elite. They wear fine clothes, but they are all looking for excitement and if this is what they are after, and it certainly is, the promoter is to be thanked for furnishing it.

One of the things that in the mind of some may redeem this exhibition, is that many of the participants are professionals and have learned the art of sleeping while they work, and we have no doubt but when they get behind the doors away from the crowd they laugh at the rest of us.

We would suggest to the business men who may not be doing the large volume of business they would like to do, that they go down to the Walkathon and study it a little. The business men are not selling what the people want. This promoter is. The people are willing to pay for what they want and that's it. Education and culture isn't even a veneer, and if it is, they can make a veneer thinner out of education and culture than of anything we know of.

"Mince pie," says Dr. Hutchinson, "is a polysaccharide carbohydrate of high caloric efficiency." Especially if you eat it before going to bed.

BAR ASSOCIATION SPLITS

We took the occasion yesterday to criticize the Bar Association of the City of Los Angeles, for its action in citing the editors of one of their city papers for contempt, because of certain criticisms which it made. We declared then that we doubted if the membership of the association approved.

According to the news today, there was widespread revolt among members of the Bar Association of Los Angeles, which was likely to split the organization seriously. It appears that the eleven members of the Board never had consulted with the general membership of the Association concerning these proceedings. But the charge is made that the Bar Association has fallen under the domination of a small "clique," which operates without authority from the twenty-five hundred members in doing this kind of thing.

William Gibbs McAdoo has been retained by the defense as attorney in the case. His statement in respect to the forthcoming hearing is well worth considering. He says:

The fundamental issue in the contempt proceedings which has been brought against the editors and publishers of the Los Angeles Record, is liberty of speech and of the press. The California Constitution explicitly prohibits the enactment of any law that will restrain or abridge this liberty. Since the Legislature is powerless to do it, a tendency has developed recently to accomplish, through contempt proceedings, restraint of that very liberty, in violation of these constitutional guarantees. The issue in this case, therefore, transcends petty political considerations, the promptings of expediency or personal ambitions, and must be fought to a conclusion.

An educator says that young men no longer burn the midnight oil. It's banana oil now.

CITIES SPREAD

It is an interesting study which the Census Department furnishes the people in the figures published now on the larger cities. It appears very clearly that most of the large cities have not increased in population in the same territory which they occupied ten years ago. If they have increased perceptibly it has been through the operation of annexation. Suburbs have been added. There is a disposition for the people to move from the congested district of the big cities out into the suburbs. Some big cities, in sections, have actually lost population.

The city of Cleveland which was heralded as losing its place in this census under the name of Cleveland, yet retains it actually by the increase in its suburbs. The city increased only 12 per cent in actual population when confined to the city proper, but when the suburbs were added and compared with ten years ago, the increase of 26 per cent showed that the suburbs increased enough to overcome the 12 per cent and showed the whole increase up to 26 per cent. The population of Greater Cleveland is 1,197,818.

The automobile is responsible for the spreading of the city area to a large extent. By means of the car, people can live fifteen to twenty-five miles from their office or shop and yet reach home more quickly from their work than they formerly did by means of the street car in the congested period of the day when they lived but six miles from their place of business.

When we have the roofs of buildings for airplane service, the distance of the home from the place of business will be troubled with no more inconvenience.

BISHOP CANNON EXONERATED

Bishop James Cannon, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has been exonerated by the committee on the Episcopacy after a vote of 54 to 11. This was on the charge of stock gambling. The Bishop's defense was that he had supposed that he was doing business with a perfectly legitimate brokerage firm,—did not intend to speculate to the extent of buying on margin,—and when he found that this was being done he promptly withdrew his business from the firm. He expressed sorrow for the act which had brought him and the church into such notoriety and said he would never do it again.

We believe that had Bishop Cannon no part in the matter of buying and selling stocks, the opposition to him would not have lasted twenty-four hours. It was this financial transaction which caused doubt and questioning and perturbed many friends of Bishop Cannon and the cause of prohibition which he represented. Undoubtedly, the suspicion that he was being opposed, and the savage attacking by certain parties, not on the ground of his stock matters, but because he had stood for prohibition and for President Hoover, caused many people to feel that the Bishop should be exonerated, if possible, so that the action of the conference should not be misinterpreted.

There was a great deal in this, for even what the Bishop said, he did unwittingly, millions of people do, and the very group, including Josephus Daniels, never raise their voice against them, either as citizens or as churchmen. If they had "gotten" Bishop Cannon, Josephus Daniels would have gotten revenge by being reminded that Bishop Cannon went into his state and stumped the state with Daniels standing for Smith and Cannon for Hoover, and Cannon won with his candidate right there in North Carolina.

We are glad that the whole matter has been aired. Unquestionably Bishop Cannon has received all the punishment which he deserves for any mistake he made in respect to stock purchases. He acknowledges he made a mistake and the General Conference accepts it, exonerating him as a man and Bishop. He has undoubtedly lost some prestige and to that extent the cause which he represents will be harmed. Men in such positions as he occupies owe a great obligation to their followers to keep from the appearance of things which will injure them and harm the cause.

NEW JERSEY POLITICS AGAIN

A few days ago we noted that Dwight W. Morrow and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, were fighting it out for the nomination of United States Senator, each endeavoring to get the "wet" vote. Franklin W. Fort is a candidate for the same office with the "drys" behind him. There is the short term until next March and then there is the long term beginning next March and running for six years. These candidates were covering both these offices so that the name of each appeared twice on the ticket. Frelinghuysen, however, has just withdrawn his name for the short term, almost insuring Morrow's nomination for that term, but Frelinghuysen keeps his place for the long term.

There is good politics in this. They will only have to cross their name once for Frelinghuysen for him to get what he is after, while with Morrow they must vote for him twice. The gesture of giving Morrow the short term will also help Frelinghuysen.

It is possible that there are enough "dry" votes inside the Republican party, however, to nominate Fort as against the other two. But on the straight "wet" and "dry" issue, if Fort is nominated in New Jersey, we weep for what will happen to him.

A Woman to Stop a Racket

Christian Science Monitor
Even when the world moved more slowly than it does today, there were women who had a way of doing unusual things. It has remained, however, for a New York woman to undertake to clean up a modern gangsters' "racket." She is Mrs. Travis H. Whitney, and she has been named dictator of the laundry industry in Brooklyn to rid it of an alleged heavy blackmail tax for "protection" levied upon it by the underworld. For this work she will need, and may be levied upon to use, both the long legal training which made her, while still Rosalie Loew, one of America's outstanding pioneer women lawyers, and a talent for leadership which has notably characterized her subsequent civic service.

This "racket," which Mrs. Whitney has started out to "filene" is of the type which depends on organized terrorism to carry out its dark and parasitical purposes. Its ugly shadow, too often regarded as impossible to remove, has menaced alike the milk, the ice, the building and other industries of New York City. Popular education in the modus operandi of the system has been had chiefly in newspaper headlines announcing the summary passing of some figure whose underworld connections were well known to the police, and subsequent disclosures that the tragedy was incidental to some "racket."

Such was the history of the laundry "racket" in Brooklyn, which, recent hearings before the attorney-general showed, has dominated that industry by gangster intimidation for many years. Simultaneously, Mrs. Whitney, whose prominence in civic affairs had brought her to the secretaryship of the Brooklyn Economic Conference, found in the records of the Neighborhood Laundry Owners' Association certain illogical figures which she undertook to investigate. This led to her discovery that Brooklyn laundry owners, about 95 per cent of whom are members of this association, were being mulcted of between $250,000 and $300,000 a year for a nebulous sort of "protection" by "detective" organizations.

It is not to be imagined, of course, that the racketeer spring into being of his own account. One of the tasks which will face the dictator the laundry owners have chosen will be to change internal competitive trade methods for which they themselves are responsible and which opened the door to the racketeer.

Mrs. Whitney has already indicated the vigor her methods will have in the fearlessness with which she has exposed the "rackets" machinery. She recognizes as her first move the necessity for restoring the morale of the laundry owners which long intimidation has weakened.

JOHNNY-JUMP-UPS

The little Johnny-Jump-Ups
Are up at break of dawn
And stand all day in brave array
Upon the velvet lawn;
Each face alert and eager,
Each arden little eye;
Up-turned to view the first faint blue
That tints the Eastern sky.

The daffodils are lazy,
And flutter in the breeze
Or roll about, day in, day out,
In attitudes of ease.
But not the Johnny-Jump-Ups;
Until the day is done
They stand erect and circumspect
And watch the glowing sun.

Like soldiers at attention
When Generals ride by,
Cool, proud and straight they calmly wait
Till evening dims the sky.
And even after twilight
Has cooled the quiet air,
If you go out and walk about
You'll find them watching there.

The tulip is more stately,
The rose has grander ways,
The lilies tall along the wall
Loom brighter on the gaze,
But still the Johnny-Jump-Ups,
That stand there all day long
Until the sun his course has run,
Are worth a scrap of song.

Hitch-Hiking Business Men

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

What makes the "Tired Business Man" tired? Hitch-hiking. For a few years, he rides smoothly along. Then, apparently for no good reason, he has to get out and walk. Plod, plod, plod. When he has about given up hope of anything but plodding, along comes a Prosperity Bus, and he gets in and rides.

Psychologists tell us that nothing is so hard on the nervous system as being thrown rapidly from one extreme of emotion to another. Psychologists don't know the half of it. The true inwardness of being emotionally ping-ponged is known only to cyclogists.

A cyclogist is a man who spends his business life hitch-hiking over a rolling country, never knowing whether he is about to go up or down. His troubles are created by the devil of ignorance.

Only ignorance insists on hyphenating prosperity. Only ignorance splits it into syllables, with two or three years of waiting between the syllables. Prosperity is all one word. Business men can learn to pronounce it, not stutter it.

The one thing most needed is a right flow of money to consumers. Man originated the flow. Man can measure it and maintain it.

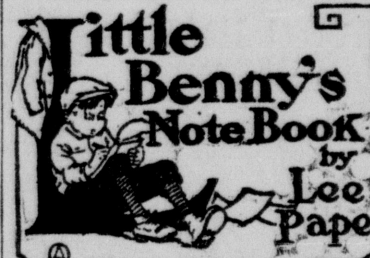

However casually prosperity seems to arrive, and however whimsically it seems to disappear, it is not an accident. It is the logical results of definite acts—mainly acts of men.

Acts of God have little to do with our business troubles, though it is always convenient to have God to blame.

Prosperity does not arrive because of a happy conjunction of Planets. But it can be forced to stay, when it does arrive, by a happy conjunction of Plan-Its! Business Cycles are no more inevitable than bicycles.

When enough men get tired of business ups—tired of "getting on" today, and "taking on" tomorrow—there will be an end of business cycles, as we have endured them in the past. In that happy day, hitch-hiking business men will be crowded off the highways.

FRED FEERNOT AND THE OLD LADY

A Play by Benny Potts

Scene, a trolley car.

Fred Feernot—G, look at that poor old lady looking as if she wished she had a seat. Why don't somebody give her theirs? Why don't I, for that matter? I believe I will, actions speak louder than thaws. Would you mind having my seat, madam?

Old lady—At last my patience is rewarded. I been riding in crowded trolley cars for 2 years waiting for some boy to offer me his seat so I could reward him for his politeness by paying his way through college, and at last it happened and your the boy. Im not a poor old lady, Im a rich old lady disguised for the idea. What college do you choose and when do you want to start?

Fat Man—Well, if nobody's going to that seat, I know somebody that it. (Meaning himself).

Fred Feernot—Hay, goodnite, look whats happened. Now I cant give you my seat because for the simple reason I havent got any left to give.

Old lady—Well thats too bad, after me waiting 2 years. O well, maybe youll see me in another trolley car some time, but I doubt it, Ive had about enough, I think Ill ride in my imported automobile after this.

Fred Feernot—O well, its healthier to work your way through college anyway.

Old lady—I believe your rite, perhaps its all for the best.

The end.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OUR DANGEROUS AGE

We are in the midst of modern mankind's dangerous age.

We are watching our civilization, born of science and the machine, come-of-age.

The hour when a civilization comes-of-age is a perilous hour.

The civilizations of antiquity did not survive this searching hour. These ancient civilizations were safe i their youth, because, however silly and superstitious their spiritual codes and social customs now seem and actually were, the social orders had enormous practical values in steadying men's lives and maintaining that saving minimum of emotional loyalties without which civilizations die.

But sooner or later, as these civilizations began to mature, the acid of free intelligence fell upon their social orders.

A Socrates began to question the soundness of the popular notions of ancient Greece. Men here and there and yonder began to feel the contagion of his critical spirit. Customs on which Greeks had leaned for support began to totter. Ideas that had seemed eternal elements of the life of man and society passed into the gray shadow of doubt. The Classic culture of pre-Socratean Greece crumbled.

The destructive effect of critical intelligence ran ahead of the constructive effect of creative intelligence.

The modern West is in much the same situation today, but with a saving difference, unless I am allowing the wish to play parent to the thought.

All the popular notions that were the underpinning of the social order of our fathers are being literally soaked in the acid of free intelligence.

Science has superstition on the run.

The intellectuals have made us uncomfortable in our old beliefs, and the intellectuals, I am sorry to say, have not, by and large, given us equally workable new beliefs.

But out in the busy world of affairs, unacademic men are hammering out a philosophy and procedure that will, I suspect, be found the salvation of Western civilization.

While the intellectual critics are blasting at the foundations of the old sort of machine civilization, the engineers and the few business statesmen we have are building a new sort of machine civilization that will be a livable home for the human spirit.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SUMMER VACATIONS

The vacation months ought not to be empty ones. Children are active creatures because they are still growing rapidly. Their growth is based on action. To allow that to flag for two precious growing months is great waste. The children must have useful, pleasant, valuable occupation. But what? It is not wise to ask a child to study school work in vacation time. He has had enough of that sort of work for a time. He needs variety of experiences and as most schools offer only book experiences it is better to let the child do some sort of work during vacation, or follow some other course of study.

Those children who are fortunate enough to go to a summer camp, a good summer camp, need no other help. But the great mass of children are at home, on the streets, loose. They have no motive for their days and so get into mischief. They must be directed and given opportunity for gathering useful experiences.

Those who have certain work selected for their vacation time are safe. Some children go to the berry fields, some to the fruit orchards. It seems to me that what is a fine solution for those children, especially if they go with their parents and are carefully protected against exploitation. Children under 15 years of age need free play with a little work thrown in to steady them and give them habits of industry and knowledge of business. Wherever children gather for work, there the school should raise its flag. I believe that the school should have the first and last word about the employment of children. The health board, the employers, and the school, with the school first, should be gravely concerned about this problem.

It won't do to turn children loose for two months. Nor will it do to allow them to work without enlightened supervision. Children need to be trained to a habit of work in their chosen fields. The schools can offer little in that direction. I hope that the day is coming when school shall function all day long, all year round. For school is a phase of life. Children live in school and it is clear that they ought not to live artificially in one part of their day and normally another part. Normal living all the time is what they are entitled to have. Let us hope that our education will catch up to this idea before another generation goes by.

But now what about this summer? Summer camp? That is good IF the camp is good. A job? Fine, if the job is intelligently selected, not just for the money in question, though that is of importance, but for the education it offers, which is of prime importance.

A good job is educative. Don't imagine a child is educated because he goes through school. Not until his knowledge functions in action can you measure his education. Work is a great help toward that end. Only make certain that the work is truly educative.

Summer school to make up back lessons? Not if you can possibly help it. A tired child does not profit by a repetition of the old story. It is better to change the work so as to give the child a new and fresh point of view. A quickened intelligence will soon make up back work but a deadened, routine, fatigued mind can make no progress. Fill the vacation period with profitable days. MILL'S BIRTH

On May 20, 1806, John Stuart Mill, English philosopher and economist and regarded as one of the foremost thinkers of his time, was born in London.

Taught at home by his father, Mill is said to have begun the study of Greek at the age of three. When he was 16, his father sent him to France to be educated. His stay there also gave him an intense interest in politics. On his return to London he entered the India house as a clerk in the examiner's office, where his father was assistant examiner. He remained with the company for 33 years and rose gradually until he became head of the political department.

Mill took an active part in the political discussions that followed the Revolution of 1830 in France and in the Reform bill movement in England. He established his reputation, however, by publishing his philosophical work, "A System of Logic, Ratiocinative and Inductive." The success of this work paved the way for his famous "Principles of Political Economy."
